

Revisions of the Law To Speed Up Justice, Simplify Procedure

Senior Buckley Explains Revisions Sponsored by the New York Commission for the Administration of Justice.

The following explanation of revisions of the law, intended to simplify court procedure and speed up justice, sponsored by the New York Commission for the Administration of Justice, was written for The Associated Press by the chairman of the commission, Senator John L. Buckley, New York Democrat.

By SENATOR JOHN L. BUCKLEY, (Chairman, Commission of Administration of Justice.)

Albany, N. Y., April 27 (AP).—In the course of our review of the administration of justice in this state we have discovered several things of compelling interest. We were impressed first by the accumulation of outworn formula which have attached themselves to legal procedure and judicial management. These have contributed their full share to court congestion and delay. As a result of several years of intensive study, we now know what the causes of these conditions are and what is more we know how to correct them. Delay in our courts ranges from six months to five years and exists in almost every court and section of the state. Yet there is no good reason why an ordinary negligence case should not be tried within six months after it is on the court calendar, and an ordinary commercial case within two months.

Our program is comprehensive. Two major bills are intended to provide for the long range future. A judicial council is proposed to deal chiefly with a planned business management of the courts and to take the place of the present situation whereby each judge and court acts alone and independently.

A law revision commission is also recommended to coordinate and modernize the statute law of the state. Both of these bodies have great possibilities. Both have been enacted into law by the legislature at this session, and thus the first part of our program has been completed.

The second phase of the commission's work proposes an immediate plan to deal with the law's delay. These proposals may be divided into three general groups. The first group is concerned with modernizing procedure, and introduced over a score of bills with this end in view. Some of them deal with questions of commercial procedure and are intended to remove legal technicalities and make summary judgment should be permitted unless facts adduced under oath entitle the parties to a trial.

A much larger problem arises in dealing with negligence cases which are three times more numerous than commercial cases. As to these the principal procedure change which I have proposed would remove the element of surprise by letting each party discover from examination of the witnesses what the facts are early in the litigation.

To my mind this plan has tremendous possibilities for reducing delay because it encourages the settlement of law suits, reduces perjury by permitting a check in advance upon the witness's testimony, and shortens trials by reducing the number of real points in dispute. The element of surprise is a big factor in present day justice, but I think the time has come to limit and restrict its effect.

Another approach to the immediate situation involves modernizing the business efficiency of our courts. My principal proposal is for an administrative judge whose duties will be to see that the court disposes of its cases both quickly and efficiently.

The numerous procedural and administrative improvements, which are contained in some two score of the commission's bills, should eliminate all unreasonable delay. Yet their effect may be discounted during the next year or two unless the present undigested mass of cases is quickly removed. There are approximately 50,000 cases carried over from year to year in the supreme court alone.

Fourteen bills to effect certain of these purposes have already passed the legislature, while seventeen more have passed the senate and are now under consideration by the assembly. At the present time, however, only the long range phase of the commission's program has been adopted in full. The more important bills by which delay will be reduced at once have not yet been adopted.

NO TRUTH ABOUT FINDING LINDBERGH RANSOM MONEY

Washington, April 27 (AP).—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Justice Department's division of investigation, today described as "without a scintilla of truth" reports published in Boston that a large amount of the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom money had been found in New England.

The reports, he said, apparently grew out of a visit to Vermont last week of 10 special agents of the division in an investigation of an extortion case. The investigation had nothing to do with the Lindbergh case. Hoover asserted. The extortion case failed to develop. There have been no important developments recently in the division's search for the kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby, the director declared.

He branded as "absolutely false" rumors that $25,000 of the Lindbergh ransom money or any other part of it has been turned up through the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston.

Both Legislative Branches Rush Measures As Adjournment Nears

Assembly on First Vote Defeats 72 to 60, Buckley Bill for Three Cent Gasoline Tax, But Passage is Predicted—Assembly Also Gives Setback to Liquor Control—Senate Kills Lottery and Education Measures.

Albany, N. Y., April 27 (AP).—The method that existed under the old excise law was defeated by a vote of 54 ayes and 52 noes. Under the bill, restrictions on sale of liquor would have been somewhat less strict than those of the present ABP board.

The vote was 72 ayes to 60 noes, four votes short of the number required to pass it. The bill was temporarily laid aside for a vote later in the day.

The bill's defeat was not regarded as a serious setback to plans for adjournment today, as some Republicans hinted that on later votes they would join the Democrats in supporting the measure.

The controversy over continuing a three cent tax on gasoline, instead of permitting it to drop back to two cents, is the last major obstacle in the way of adjournment.

Clocks were stopped in both houses just before 12 o'clock, in accordance with resolutions to adjourn at noon. Both houses went into session about midday.

A new attempt by Assemblyman Frank X. Bernhardt, Erie Republican, to pass his amended bill for a return to state liquor control.

The Senate today defeated for a second time this session legislation proposing creation of a lottery sponsored by the New York city administration to raise funds for the unemployed.

The vote killing the bill was almost unanimous, five ayes to 32 noes.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Julius Berg, Bronx Democrat.

Senator George R. Fearon, Republican minority leader, led the opposition with the declaration "This plan isn't on the level."

"If we are going to have lotteries, we will have to amend the constitution," he said.

The Assembly today defeated the Twombly bill providing for allocation of the $102,000,000 budget appropriation for education.

The vote was 65 ayes and 68 noes, 11 votes short of the number required for the measure's passage.

Chester Young Dead From Heart Attack

Was Treasurer of Dairymen's League for Number of Years—Died at Home Near Napanoch.

Chester Young, treasurer of the Dairymen's League for a number of years, died suddenly at his home near Napanoch shortly before 7 o'clock this morning, from a heart attack. Mr. Young had been in poor health for several years and for the past two days his condition had been critical. He had returned home early in April after spending a month at Daytona Beach, Florida, accompanied by Mrs. Young, and had made one visit to his office in New York after his return north. Mr. Young was a son of the late George Young, sheriff of Ulster county from 1886 to 1888. He attended the Ellenville High School and Worcester Academy at Worcester, Mass., and later graduated from Cornell University. He took an active interest in politics in his home town and in 1920 was elected supervisor of the town of Wawarsing, serving until 1925, when he resigned and accepted a position as treasurer of the Dairymen's League, in which organization he had taken an active interest, being recognized as one of its most prominent and influential members. Mr. Young had a very wide circle of friends and acquaintances who will learn with deep regret of his death. He is survived by his wife, who was before her marriage Miss Jennie Devine, daughter of the late Major and Mrs. Dwight Devine of Ellenville, one son, Chandler Young, of Napanoch, and a brother, Professor George Young, of the College of Architecture, Cornell University.

Cannon Case In Hands of the Jury

Washington, April 27 (AP).—The case of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, charged with conspiracy to violate an election law in the 1928 anti-Smith campaign, was given today to a jury of eleven men and a woman in District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The jury retired shortly after noon after receiving instructions on the law applying to the case from Justice Peyton Gordon.

In the closing prosecution argument, Leslie C. Garnet, the district attorney, pictured the Southern Methodist churchman as "like a ward heeler passing out money from the pockets of his bishop's robes" during the campaign against Alfred D. Smith.

Justice Gordon devoted more than an hour to outlining the points to be considered.

Cannon and Miss Burroughs sat side by side at the end of the counsel table, each staring steadily at the judge as he made his jury charge.

Hansel and Gretel Again on Saturday

Owing to the fact that it was impossible to accommodate all who wished to hear the opera Hansel and Gretel, which was given twice this afternoon, it has been decided to repeat the opera Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in the Kingston High School auditorium. So large was the attendance this afternoon at both performances that it was necessary to call on the police to assist in handling traffic.

War Department Funds

Washington, April 27 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed a bill providing $214,228,591 for maintenance of the war department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Mrs. Henry J. Diehl Kills Self With Gas

Found by Her Husband Seated in a Chair Close to the Gas Range in Their Apartment at 22 Broadway—Coroner Conner Gave Verdict of Death by Inhaling Illuminating Gas.

Mrs. Henry J. Diehl, 27 years old, died Thursday evening from inhaling gas from the range in the kitchen of the family apartment on the fourth floor of the building at 22 Broadway. She was found by her husband, who immediately notified the police department. Apparently no motive for her act could be found by the authorities who made an investigation.

According to the authorities Mrs. Diehl, who was employed at the Hercules powder plant at Port Ewen, returned home from work late that afternoon and met her husband on the way home, and the two walked to their apartment. This was about 5:30 o'clock. They were in the house but a short time when Mrs. Diehl left the house to go to the grocery store.

He returned home about 15 or 20 minutes later to find the door locked. He went to the floor below where his mother resided and asked her if she had seen his wife go out. She replied she had not and loaned him a key. The key failed to unlock the door and he was forced to break it open. As he entered the kitchen he found the room filled with the odor of gas and his wife seated in a chair close to the gas range. She was slumped over the top of the range from which gas was pouring.

The police were immediately called by telephone and Officers Bowers and Entrott responded. The fire department was also notified and Firemen LaTour, Williams and Disch hurried to the house with the inhalator. The General Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation also sent its inhalator in charge of Arthur Davis and Joseph Smith. Dr. Jack Lehnner, who had been notified, hurried to the house and administered Methylene blue in the hope of reviving Mrs. Diehl. The firemen and the company men worked for nearly four hours with the inhalators in an effort to revive her.

Coroner W. Norman Conner, who was also called, gave as his verdict suicide by gas, as his wife, who was found by her husband, had been removed to his morgue on Fair street, and funeral arrangements will be made later.

Mrs. Diehl besides her husband is survived by three small children by a former marriage. They are Charles, 10; Lele, 8; and Eva Greene, 5. Her maiden name was Mary Ida Winnie and she was a former resident of Sawkill, where her father, Augustus Winnie, resides. She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Keator of Gilboa, Mrs. Katherine Ervey and Mrs. Margaret Mackey of Gilboa, and three brothers, Edward Winnie of Easton, Pennsylvania, and Frank and Chester Winnie, both of Sawkill.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 27 (AP).—The position of the treasury April 25 was: Receipts, $141,282,657.72; expenditures, $147,719,282.46; balance, $4,412,552,576.45. Customs receipts for the month, $17,257,826.46. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,462,858,672.25; expenditures, $2,551,965,567.42 (including $2,192,547,548.67 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $82,258,464,894.15. Gold assets, $7,755,127,319.25.

"Asia For Asiatics" Doctrine Answered By British Authority

Although Reply is Not Official the Import is Said to Reflect the Attitude of Diplomatic Supervisors—See An Asia Run by Japan.

By ALBERT W. WILSON (Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

London, April 27.—A British authority's answer to the "Asia for Asiatics" doctrine came today from a source close to the British Indian administration.

Japan, the authority said, may dominate China by force and may gain some influence in Siam through intrigue—though this latter is doubtful—but she will never exercise even minor influence in India and other areas of southern Asia.

"Asia for Asiatics" is rapidly becoming the slogan of all eastern peoples, he added, "but only the Japanese conceive of this new Asia as being run by Japan."

The authority attributed the popularization of the slogan to Japan's rise to power and imperialistic expansion.

A doctrine of "Asia for Asiatics" under the leadership of Japan, acting in close collaboration with other Asiatic powers, has been enunciated officially by the Tokyo government through Masayuki Yokoyama, consul general at Geneva.

No official reply, it was made plain, has come from Great Britain, but the answer given the Associated Press was representative as accurately reflecting the views of the British Indian administration.

The informant described as "utterly fantastic" any possible Japanese aspirations to an extension of influence over India and other southern Asiatic areas.

Even if independent of Great Britain, India would never permit Japanese influence, he asserted.

First of all, the authority went on, the Indians are Aryans more similar to Europeans than northern Asiatics.

Second, the Indians have a deep distrust and suspicion of the Japanese as a result of commercial contacts.

Third, India's greatest problem is to raise the standard of living and this means she must fight Japan industrially; and.

Fourth, Hinduism has "swallowed up" every other Asiatic cult with which it has come in contact and the Moslem minority remaining in India now has been saved only by British intervention.

Aside from these reasons, British leaders can not envisage an independent India that would not be steadfastly and perpetually loyal to the British King—as are Canada and Australia today.

It is no exaggeration to say that despite the political differences with Mahatma Gandhi's Ranks, British authorities believe there is and always will be a real affection between India and "Mother England."

BUFFALO CHILD FACES CREEPING LUKEMIA DEATH

Buffalo, N. Y., April 27 (AP).—Death pointed its finger at three-year-old Mary Labarra-Doldan today as sleep interrupted her lone pastime during her fight against an incurable foe, the dread leukemia.

The child, pale and listless despite two blood transfusions, has found her only solace in stories read to her by her mother who spends every day at the hospital. Now periods of deep slumber cause her mother to pause in the midst of the stories with tears in her eyes. Each night Mary's father takes his place in vigil at her bedside.

Physicians state there is no hope for the child, no cure being known for the disease.

NRA OFFICIALS CONFEE WITH STEEL EXECUTIVES

New York, April 27 (AP).—High officials of NRA conferred with leading steel executives in a closed session at the American Iron and Steel Institute headquarters today.

The code forces were represented by Donald H. Nieberg, general counsel for the NRA, and Kenneth M. Simpson, district administrator for the steel code. General Hugh S. Johnson was expected but had not arrived when the conference opened.

Among the steel men present were William R. Irvin, president of the United States Steel Corporation, Eugene C. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, and Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel Corporation.

Women's Federation Of Third District in Session Here Today

New York State Federation of Women's Clubs Meeting at First Reformed Church—State Officials Among 150 Women Present For Duration.

The women of the Third District of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs met today at the First Reformed Church, there being a morning and afternoon session, with luncheon served to the delegates both out of town and from the local federation.

The morning session was devoted to the business of the day. In the afternoon state and county chairmen and the president of the State Federation, Mrs. Moore, were the speakers. The morning program opened with an organ recital given by W. Whiting Frodenburgh, organist of the church, after which the invocation was pronounced by Mrs. A. Noble Graham in the absence of the pastor, Dr. Boeve, who is ill. The salute to the flag and the singing of "America, the Beautiful" followed.

Mrs. Harry B. Walker, president of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, welcomed the visiting Federation officers and club women and friends. She expressed the happiness of all in having the distinguished officers and club women of New York state as guests in Kingston and for the honor bestowed upon the Kingston Federation by the official Federal which had asked for its meeting in Kingston in connection with the district meeting and their official meeting in the evening.

Mrs. Walker said it had been her intention to heartily extend Kingston's hospitality to the guests only, but last evening she had been asked to give a very brief history of the old First Reformed Church where they were meeting and this she did interestingly but very concisely. She considered the historic church as a wonderful example of "Service," the Federation slogan.

The hostess's greeting was responded to by Miss Eleanor E. Allen, third district director.

Miss Allen told the Kingston Federation what a joy and privilege the invitation to hold this meeting in Kingston, especially in the very beautiful and inspiring church. It was a matter of special import to her to have her first district meeting in such a beautiful place. Also the day was a memorial in her own life and she asked for the support of all her efforts to give her very best service to the work of the district.

Mrs. Benjamin W. Johnston, soprano soloist of the church, added much to the inspiration of the morning meeting by singing, "Praise God in a Garden," accompanied by W. Whiting Frodenburgh, organist of the church. Following the routine of secretary and treasurer's reports, the assembly sang the New York State Federation Song.

Then came the presenting of reports by the county chairmen of Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster counties. These reports told of an astonishing variety of study subjects as well as educational, charitable, philanthropic, welfare, entertainment, social activities, plainly showing what a power is being exerted for betterment of body, mind, and spirit in the communities where there are federated club women active.

Moreover the reporting women gave their reports in most attractive form that were as entertaining as informing. Each county report told of the work of all the clubs affiliated in each county of the federation. Mrs. Arthur J. Sauerbrey, president of the Ulster county federation, reported for Ulster county.

Election of officers was the next proceeding, state official to be elected being the second vice president. Two names had been presented as candidates, that of Mrs. Allen T. Moore of Albany and that of Mrs. Harry P. Van Wageningen of Kingston. Mrs. Van Wageningen withdrew her name and Mrs. Moore of Albany was unanimously elected as second vice president of the New York State Federation by the third district.

There were some 150 delegates registered at the morning session of the meeting as being transacted. They came from Catskill, Saugerties, Central Bridge, Delmar, Elmira, Hornell, Rome, Chatham, Greenville, Cohoes, Hillview, Oswego, Albany, Hunter, Troy, Mt. Vernon, Ogdensburg, Watervliet, Schoharie, New Paltz, Valley Falls, Cobleskill, Leroy, Johnstown, West Sand Lake, Menand.

Following the luncheon, which was served in the chapel of the church to some 110 guests, the afternoon session was called with the following program carried out: Organ recital, Mr. Frodenburgh; Club Woman's Creed, Mrs. Arthur J. Norton, Ulster county chairman; Speaker, Mrs. Lawrence H. Vandenberg, state chairman, department of education.

Solo, Mrs. Benjamin F. Johnston. Speaker, Mrs. William D. Sponberg, general chairman, district speaker, Mrs. Charles Gillingham Moore, president, N. Y. State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Grandfather Electrocuted

Huntsville, Tenn., April 27 (AP).—A 60-year-old grandfather, Charles Outlaw, died early today in the electric chair for the bawdiest slaying of Mrs. Frank McCall, 38, a year ago last January. Greer-locked and bent, the elderly man walked steadily to the chair. There he turned to the prison warden and said: "I'm too old a man to die with a lie on my lips, warden—I didn't do it."

Vote May Be Cast Today In The Loughran Ouster Proceedings

The Court of Appeals Affirms Convictions Of 3 To Die In Sing Sing

Albany, N. Y., April 27 (AP).—The court of appeals today affirmed the first degree murder convictions of three men now awaiting electrocution in Sing Sing prison.

They are Samuel Silverman, Brooklyn; Ros Cammisse, Rochester, and William Vogel, New York.

Silverman, a shipping clerk, was indicted for the slaying of Sigmond Berkowitz in his son's haberdashery shop in Brooklyn on October 20, 1933, during a holdup.

Three others were indicted for the same crime but pleaded guilty to second degree murder. They were Morris Reuben, Lazarus Greenberg and Louis Zichok.

Cammisse was convicted in Monroe county of killing Edmund P. Van De Water, when the latter resisted an attempt to holdup his Rochester cigar store on May 18, 1933. Joseph Stiller, jointly indicted, turned state's witness.

Vogel, alias Jerry Ryan, was accused of murdering Patrolman George H. Gerhard during a robbery on December 14, 1932, at 450 Amsterdam avenue, New York.

The decisions were handed down just before the court recessed until May 21.

Work Resumed On New Road Over The Shawangunk Mts.

Delucca Bros., the contractors, on Monday resumed work on the new road over the Shawangunk Mountains, leading from Ellenville to Walker Valley, where it connects with the road completed some time since. Work on the road was discontinued last fall with all but about three-quarters of a mile of rough grading completed. The work remaining to complete the rough grading of the road involves a good deal of blasting and rock cut.

According to a letter recently received by Supervisor McDowell of the town of Wawarsing, from Dr. Walter N. Thayer, State Commissioner of Corrections, the latter had received assurance from Arthur W. Brandt, commissioner of highways, that the road will be given a good travel surface and put in shape for use this summer.

Dr. Thayer told the commissioner that unless something could be done to make the road passable it would tremendously interfere with traffic during the coming summer. Commissioner Brandt is quoted as saying that he feared there would not be money enough to complete the road this year, but that it would be put in temporary condition, with hopes that another year there would be sufficient money to complete the work.

Century of Fashion Shows Here Tonight

The Century of Fashions, the fashion revue and dance under the auspices of the Wiltwyck Golf Club, will be held in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium this evening.

The entertainment program follows:

Roger Loughran and Mrs. C. C. Fromer will dance a minuet arranged by Mr. Howard Lewis.

Miss Anne Herzog will give a reading of Amy Lowell's "Patterns". Mrs. Henry Dunbar, attired in her mother's wedding dress, will sing a group of songs.

Miss Benita Phelps and John Davis of Saugerties will give an original dance.

Red Davis of Burgoyne will do the garden scene.

The fashion review will show costumes worn by Ulster county folk during the past one hundred years, and promises to be one of the most interesting events ever held.

Wonderly Company Now in New Store

The Wonderly Company is now located in its new store at 214 Wall street, opposite the store where it had been located for many years, and the new store will be open for inspection this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Saturday morning the new store will be open for business. The new store is modern throughout and a decided addition to the city's business houses.

For two weeks the members of the board of supervisors have been in session, a great amount of testimony has been offered in an attempt to show that County Supervisor James F. Loughran has conducted the duties of his office in such a manner as to warrant the board ousting him. The proceeding was brought in the name of the board of supervisors of the county and was sponsored by the Democratic members of the board, 17 in number, a controlling vote by one. The ousting proceeding has been opposed by the 18 Republican members.

This afternoon there will be some additional testimony on the part of respondent and then after a brief summation of the case the matter will go to a vote. On that vote depends the retention or ejection of Mr. Loughran.

The specific charges under which Mr. Loughran has been brought before the board were preferred by Tuthill McDowell, Democratic supervisor of Wawarsing, and those charges were adopted by a 17 to 16 vote of the board.

The morning session was continued with the further examination of Mr. Loughran and shortly after noon when a recess was taken his examination had been concluded.

Alleged Overdrafts.

There was considerable time spent on the matter of the alleged overdrafts on certain roads and alleged balances on other projects and an attempt was made to show that the State Highway Department had no knowledge of the exact situation in the county as to the highways built and the witness was questioned by Ewiz as to whether if the Highway Department had known of the existence of overdrafts and unexpended balances whether state money would have been appropriated to Ulster county in the same proportion that it was. The witness was asked whether or not the report of the Highway Department had not indicated that highways had been completed when in effect they had not. Mr. Loughran said that was not true and that the highway department had reports which indicated the overdrafts and the unexpended balances and also knew of appropriations which were made to complete roads.

In figuring estimates for roads, he said he figured the cost of completion of the road, but those figures in 1930 could not be exact estimates because there was no fund provided and no manner in which an engineering survey could be made to ascertain the exact conditions which might be encountered when work was started. In instances when work was commenced some unforeseen condition which was not visible until then made necessary more money than had been asked for or provided.

He said that he never took up a construction job without the board of supervisors approving it except in one instance, road 80, when he had no official approval of the board but had "unofficial" approval from the board and official approval for the work from the state. The board later gave its official approval for that work.

Mileage Completed and Uncompleted.

The manner of making estimates, the amounts spent on various projects, mileage completed and mileage uncompleted was gone into in great length. Mr. Loughran said he asked for an appropriation for each road which he thought could be properly expended during a working season. The amount of work depended on local conditions, weather, etc. In some instances an appropriation was asked for grading only, the surfacing to be done the following year with an additional appropriation.

Asked about the employment of Ben Baldwin as foreman Mr. Loughran said he had been recommended by John W. Eckert, "the best friend I ever had," and he said that Mr. Eckert had been to his knowledge county attorney and secretary to the Republican county committee.

The much talked of blue print machine he said belonged to him and was located at his home on Fair street where it had always been. It was a machine costing about $2,000 and he did not consider the amount of work done in this line for the county warranted the purchase by the county of such a machine.

Mr. Loughran had to his contention that he had a right under authority of the board and the law to draw on the general county highway funds for work done on approved projects so long as there was money in that fund and was not bound by the project estimates.

Asked if he would have proceeded with projects on roads 62 and 64 in 1931 had not the state approved of that work he said he would have done so under his instructions from the board of supervisors unless the state department ordered him not to. He had testified he would have proceeded with the work without the state's approval but he had intended to convey the idea that he would have proceeded only if no active had

George V Starts 25th Year of Rule As Most Popular British Monarch

By OSCAR LEIDING

London (AP)—A quarter of an hour short of midnight on May 6, King George V, "by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions Beyond the Seas King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India," will begin the twenty-fifth year of his reign.

Royal anniversaries, by the monarch's choice, usually are passed quietly but with King George's silver jubilee just a year removed, plans already are being discussed for a celebration in 1935 that may rival the observance of Victoria's golden jubilee in 1887.

Only four of the 13 sovereigns who have held the throne before him, since the union of the crowns of England and Scotland, ruled longer than this kindly, democratic monarch.

And none in that list which spans more than three centuries, contemporary students say, found as deep a place in the hearts of the British people.

A Leader of His People

They emphasize he has earned that place because in the 24 years that have passed since, with tears in his eyes, he turned from the bed that held the lifeless Edward VII, King George always has been a leader for the good of his country.

He was born a prince but not to rule, for it was not until he was nearly 27 years old that the death of his elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, made him the heir apparent.

Yet in this man was found a king who to the British represents everything a king ought to be.

The family man points to him for the example he has set in his home life.

The conservative element finds satisfaction in the simplicity of his tastes, his practical outlook, and the fact that he is progressive without being given to fads.

The sportsman admires him as a skilled yachtsman, a crack shot, an enthusiastic spectator at athletic events, and a follower of the horses with his own stable.

Court circles find that no matter how democratic and human he may be, he upholds with regal dignity the traditions of the court.

And historians credit him with

$436,000 Reported for Catholic Charities

Cash contributions totaling more than $436,000 from 75,599 Catholics in the New York Archdiocese were reported Thursday by the Catholic Charities of New York in the annual weekly appeal for funds which reached its half-way mark Wednesday. The quota set for the period of the appeal this year represents an increase of about 20 per cent over the returns from last year from the parishes.

"The enrollment to date," a statement by Catholic Charities headquarters in New York city, pointed out, "indicates that the response to the appeal of His Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, for supporting his charitable work in the Archdiocese is keeping pace with the apparent improvement locally in economic conditions, and that bettered conditions in employment and income will respond generously to the increased need of private charities to meet the cumulative problems of the depression."

An increase in both the number of contributions throughout the 371 parishes in the Archdiocese and the average cash contributions, as compared with last year, is reported in the returns. While the preliminary gifts totals, including larger contributions, showed a marked increase in number and size, as compared with the corresponding stage of last year's appeal, this acceleration is even more marked in the medium-sized brackets in the parish response, particularly between 10 and 50 dollars. The average contribution to date this year represents an increase of nearly 100 per cent by comparison with the final returns for 1933.

The 16,000 organized lay workers in the house-to-house and door-to-door canvass of the archdiocese, are turning in their reports of successful calls earlier than last year, but as the day's work is generally confined to the late afternoon and early evening hours and as each solicitation frequently involves several calls, final reports on this phase of the campaign are customarily bunched at the end of the drive, the statement declared.

Brazil Recalls Albert's Feats
Petropolis, Brazil (AP)—A plaque in commemoration of the mountain climbing feats in Brazil of King Albert of the Belgians has been placed at the top of Mount Maria Comprida, 4,500 feet high. The late king scaled several mountains in the suburbs of Rio de Janeiro and in the Organ chain near this city.

Business Girls Elected Officers

Members of the Business and Professional Girls' Club held their annual meeting and election of officers at their regular supper meeting on Wednesday evening. The secretary's report by Miss Martha Showers showed a most interesting year and was accepted. The treasurer's report, given by Miss Janet Phillips, showed a gratifying balance and was received with applause.

The report of the nominating committee was read by Miss Elita Bishop and the secretary, upon vote of the club, cast a unanimous ballot for the following: Miss Helen Bryant, president; Miss Althea Gillette, vice president; Miss Frieda Niebergall, secretary; and Miss Marion Phillips, treasurer.

Plans were announced for a covered dish supper for next Wednesday, May 2, at the Y. W. C. A.

Two Days Are Left to Dr. Samuel Trexler Make Sales Tax Return At Redeemer Church

ALBANY, N. Y., April 27.—Only two days remain in which to make returns for the fourth collection period under the one per cent retail sales tax law. Mark Graves, commissioner of taxation and finance, reminded taxpayers of the state today.

Mr. Graves also made it clear that the department intends to continue its extensive efforts to locate and collect the tax from delinquents. Commenting on the results of the field canvass now being made, the commissioner pointed out that 27,000 delinquents have been discovered by sales tax auditors thus far, and that over $700,000 has been collected as a result.

"In fairness to taxpayers who file accurate returns, it is necessary for us to center our attention on delinquents and those whose returns appear to be faulty," the state official declared. "If John Smith, a haberdasher, has complied with the law, it is not right that Tom Jones, a druggist next door, should be able to evade the same duty."

The tax payment due on or before Monday is based on sales made during the months of January, February and March. Return forms have been mailed to all persons and firms who filed for the preceding periods, but the responsibility for obtaining the blanks rests upon each individual or organization who has since entered the taxpaying class.

Payments may be made at the main office of the Sales Tax Bureau, State Office Building, Albany, or at the district offices in New York, Brooklyn, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo.

Dr. Trexler is the president of the United Lutheran Synod of New York, soon to meet in convention in Albany. He has the official oversight of over 400 congregations in New York state, New Jersey and the New England states. He comes to consult with the local congregation concerning the future of its pastorate, made vacant by the recent death of the Rev. Oscar E. Brandorff.

The Sphinxes

Like the pyramids, it isn't known who built or carved out the sphinxes. Their approximate age, however, can be traced to the dynasty in which they were built. The most celebrated and remarkable of the Egyptian sphinxes is the Great Sphinx of Giza, lying among the pyramids as a guardian of the necropolis. Inscriptions found on this famous monument when the dust of the ages was cleared away from the front of it in 1916 indicate that it was built in the Fourth dynasty, possibly 2500 B. C. To the Egyptians such figures were artistic conceptions of an imaginary animal believed to be a favorite incarnation of Ra, the sun god. The Pharaohs were held to be the descendants of Ra, and his representatives on earth. For that reason the face of a sphinx was modeled after that of the reigning monarch, or sometimes from that of the queen. Numbers of smaller sphinxes have been found in the sculptures of Assyria, Babylonia and Phoenicia.

Danube River Lengthy

The famous Danube river is the second longest river in Europe and passes through or touches six nations as it winds its way from the Black Forest of Germany to the Black sea, where it empties. The river is formed by the confluence of two small mountain streams, the Brigach and the Breg. In Baden, at an elevation of 2,264 feet above sea level. By the time the river reaches Vienna it has dropped to 500 feet above the sea. The total length of the Danube is 1,740 miles. The 400 tributaries, 100 of which are navigable, drain an area of 315,000 square miles. During its meanderings the Danube passes through Germany, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia and then passes between Bulgaria and Rumania, forming the border line.

CREDIT FOR SMALL BUSINESS

The smaller business man now gets attention. The NRA is taking more interest in him, especially with regard to code pressure, which in many cases has borne heavier on the little fellows than the big ones. There is also a better prospect of credit. Genuine relief may come from the legislation sponsored by Senator Glass of Virginia, and approved by President Roosevelt and the governor of the Federal Reserve System, by which $300,000,000 would be made available to provide working capital for starved industries. The money would be lent by the Federal Reserve Banks, or would be paid outright in purchasing the industries' own bonds.

This is one way to meet the situation caused by the lack of a market for industrial securities and the scarcity of bank credit for industry. Inasmuch as the industries must have funds to operate with, if they and the country are to recover, this is a good measure as a last resort. It will, however, drive the government farther into industrial investment and control. Public sentiment generally would rather see the purpose served by more generous lending from ordinary banks, and by enough relaxation of the securities and market control acts to make business securities more readily salable.

INSTEAD OF RAIDS

The police in a Philadelphia suburb have found a simple way to check commercial gambling in that community. They do not make raids or issue orders. They merely stand at the doors of gambling establishments and with a pleasant smile issue this warning to patrons about to enter: "Excuse me, sir, but I am instructed to tell you that if you go into this place you do so at your own risk."

Business has fallen to practically nothing in the places the police are picketing in this way. Some years ago a Cleveland police chief tried a similar plan. Police officers stationed at the doors asked the names and addresses of patrons and wrote them down in little black notebooks. Although many of the names and addresses given were fictitious, patrons were made a little nervous by the inquiry, and many departed without entering. Eventually lack of business closed those particular spots.

There are less spectacular measures than raids, but they may be just as effective. Yet in either case, the closings usually are only temporary unless public opinion refuses to support and encourage the offenders.

STEEL WALLS

France, already protected by defenses on the German frontier stronger than any ever built before by human hands, is not yet satisfied. The "wall of steel" reaching from Switzerland to Belgium is to be continued along the Belgian frontier to the sea. At the same time Belgium itself is proceeding to build a similar wall against German invasion around her eastern and northern border. She will be surrounded by master fortifications, and another German invasion of France through Belgium would have to force its way through two apparently impregnable lines. Only France's Swiss border will be left undefended. On that front France depends on Swiss armies and natural obstacles.

There are a type of fortification new in the world. They are invisible, underground structures of thick steel and concrete—the newest type of industrial construction used for the oldest purpose. The lines of forts are linked together by underground passages, continuous lines of tunnels and machine gun ports, subterranean quarters for troops and enormous quantities of ammunition, food and other supplies, and every where good roads, above and below ground, for quick construction on any front. There are many walls, electric lines, elevators, factories, all most everything conceivable in these strange military burrows and activities. Vast areas, too, can be flooded against invaders.

Civilized men have thought the feudal age, with its robber barons and costly castles and ramparts, was an absurd and vanished era. It is all this but proof of a new feudal age, far more costly and elaborate.

The only difference is that instead of individual barons or small groups spending their treasure and life in foolish warfare, we now have great nations and groups of nations doing it. What will civilized man a thousand years from now, if he survives that long—think of all these elaborate military works? We may not be as obsolete and absurd as the old Rhine castles are now.

CHINESE DIGNITY

Americans, accustomed to being ordered around by photographers and granting right of way to the films, hear with surprise and respect of the way China regards this sort of thing.

Camera men from Hollywood have been filming scenes of Chinese life for a production of Pearl Buck's novel, "The Good Earth." For a funeral scene they organized a fake funeral procession in Peking. It was a fine procession, looking like the real thing, with 54 professional pallbearers, an empty coffin and a brigade of Buddhist monks. But when the city authorities discovered what was going on, they arrested the undertaker in charge, rebuked the monks and ordered them back to their temples. A funeral was too solemn a thing to mimic for money-making purposes. They could not countenance such perversion of sacred ceremonies.

Ancient China has not yet lost her dignity. She may be poor and oppressed, but still cherishes her culture and manners.

That Body of Yours

BY

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

High blood pressure should be regarded as a warning. Its cause should be sought and treated.

High blood pressure has frequently been reduced by diet, the removal of infection from teeth, tonsils, intestine or other parts of the body, and by the use of gland substances. Therefore it may be assumed that faulty eating, infections and gland disturbances are causes of high blood pressure.

By these methods—proper eating, removal of infection and the use of gland substances—the kidneys are benefited. These methods also help to prevent the most frequent causes of death among adults, that is heart, blood vessel and kidney diseases.

Thus these three methods of high blood pressure are the best measures of preventing old age.

Am quoting the opinion of Dr. R. H. Root, New York City, in the Medical Journal and Record.

In other words high blood pressure is nature's method of taking care of various ailments as low pressure might be unable to send the blood with sufficient force and quantity to all parts of the body. High blood pressure, because the pressure is high, overcomes many obstacles.

However the big point to remember is that while high blood pressure is not a calamity, it is a warning that something, somewhere in the body is wrong; that while the body is doing good work in fighting the trouble, every effort should be made to find out the trouble and remove it, before the heart and blood vessels are exhausted by the long fight.

The first thought is about the food intake which means that, generally speaking, vegetables, cereals and milk should be the main articles of diet and the amount of meat should be cut down.

Any possible source of infection should be sought, the commonest first—teeth, tonsils, intestine.

And finally gland extracts such as liver extract should be used when other methods fail.

Remember, you may feel well with high blood pressure, but nevertheless it is a warning that nature is fighting some enemy within you.

Awards are to be made to the crow hunters turning in the largest number of "crows" for the prize.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

There is a dead end street in the heart of the city, a street that is a dead end for the police. It is a street that is a dead end for the police. It is a street that is a dead end for the police.

Chapter Three
DEFENSE PLANS

CONNORS abruptly changed the trend of the conversation. "Where was Markison while all this was going on?" he demanded.

It wasn't Markison's fault. He left the Austerlitz with me this morning and rode as far as the Old Race Road. Everything was quiet, and I didn't see any necessity for his looking at my heels all day, so I dropped him there. I had taken Mrs. Dufresne's car and no one but she knew where I was going. No one, I mean myself, knew what time I would be coming back. Of course, I thoughtfully "this may be just a coincidence and have nothing to do with the crank letters, but it looks as if those bullets had my initials on them."

Connors nudged and picked up the telephone. "Tell Markison and Harry to report to me at once," he ordered. Then he leaned back, chewing on his cigar. "Now, give me all the details about this shooting," he suggested.

Dufresne recounted the meager details of the mysterious attack. "As you know, Jim," he continued, "Markison has been trailing around with me for a week. And knowing that these anonymous pennen seldom try to carry out their threats, I went about my business as usual."

"When my wife and I came back to the city last autumn, we delayed opening the house. Mrs. Dufresne took a notion to have some of the rooms re-furnished. She has been visiting some cousins out in the suburbs, while I put up at the Austerlitz as a matter of convenience."

"I've had a heavy round of visits up-State. Yesterday I decided to see Gridley about that Lee County job. I called up Mrs. Dufresne before I started this morning. You have heard what happened on the way back."

To all seeming, the Director of Police was more upset and concerned over this attempted murder than the man who had so narrowly escaped death. Dufresne was too important a man, both financially and politically, not to warrant every effort being made to protect his personal safety.

TWO of the Detective Bureau's best men had already been detailed on this affair after Dufresne had produced his series of crank letters. The result had been entirely negative. But now that this threat had materialized in a lethal aspect, something drastic must be done, regardless of the difficulties surrounding the tracking down of this type of lawlessness.

Presently Connors' secretary ushered in the two plainclothesmen. They saluted their Chief and waited expectantly. Dufresne exchanged nods with them, then lit a fresh cigarette and withdrew to the window.

"Markison," Connors began, "you've trailed Mr. Dufresne for a week, or close to it. What have you to report?"

"Nothing, sir," the detective answered, readily enough. "I'll swear there was no one following him about while I was on the job. I've divided time with Barry here, and he'll tell you the same." The second

And while you're downstairs, take a look at that car. Perhaps the bullet holes will convince you!"

After the crestfallen detectives had withdrawn to augment their forces, Dufresne came back to the desk and impatiently crushed out the stub of his cigarette.

"Those fellows are not up to this job," he declared. "They're too thick mentally. Their ideas are muscle-bound. Probably they're still unconvinced, because they didn't see anything. The reason is obvious—they're just the common garden variety of 'gunshoe.' Their methods are haphazard. Even a half-witted criminal could see them coming a block away."

"BEFORE I can feel safe again, Jim, I must have a man who won't waste time looking for false whippers hiding behind trees. Can't you dig up a man I can take around with me without having him arouse suspicion or derision? Some one who can move about in evening clothes in places like the Austerlitz without looking like a musical comedy waiter? This thing may drag on for weeks and I can't have a riot squad picketed wherever I am."

Markison returned to indicate that the revised preparations were in readiness. Dufresne picked up his hat and overcoat and silently followed his bodyguard from the office. After he had gone, Connors tilted back and forth in his swivel chair, while he looked thoughtfully out at the falling snow.

Coming to a decision, he lifted the telephone receiver. "Get me Home," he ordered, and in a moment he had his connection. "Director Connors speaking. Put on Sergeant Harper."

The chair creaked back and forth as he waited.

"Hello, Harper?... Say, Harper, have you got a dress suit?... No, I'm not joking.... Tuxedo? Sure, that'll fill the bill.... Come on over, Harper, and I'll tell you about this soup-and-fish job." He listened to the Detective-Sergeant's response and chuckled. "No, this is the real thing. I'll tell you about it when you get here...."

Seek Change in Ruling To Keep Local Cutters Working

Provision in Code of Cotton Garment Industry Prevents Local Factories From Doing Own Cutting of Materials—Ruling Affects Three Factories and 40 Cutters—Mayor Heiselman and Committee Take It Up With Washington.

A ruling that was inserted in the code of the cotton garment industry unless it is revised will throw forty local men out of work and tie the hands of three of the local factories it was brought out today. The matter has been taken up with Mayor C. J. Heiselman and his industrial committee who have taken the matter up with the administrator at Washington seeking to have the provision revised. The ruling affects the cutting departments in the Fuller and Feasenden shirt factories and the Baltz pajama factory. The three plants employ about 40 cutters, many of whom have worked at their trade for many years, and are men with families who own their own homes in Kingston.

These three plants are known as contractor plants. Goods are sent here by out of town concerns and are cut in the local factories. It is stated that both the Fuller and Feasenden plants have been denied the right to continue operating their cutting departments under the code provision, while the Baltz plant has been given an extension until June 1. The Baltz plant manufactures pajamas while Fuller and Feasenden turn out shirts. Their products are handled by out of town concerns.

All three plants have considerable money invested in machinery and equipment in the plants here, and unless they are allowed to continue to do their own cutting will be forced to close down their cutting departments throwing the forty cutters employed out of work.

Activities at The High School

Monday morning at 8:45, the Banking Council held its weekly meeting in Room 26, and the Senior Class held a meeting in the auditorium at which time Janet Goodsell was elected May Queen. While Monday at 2:10 the Dome Rager staff and reporters held their weekly meeting in Room 9, a meeting of the Junior and Senior boys who wanted to sign up for class baseball was held in Hall B, and a meeting of everybody who is going to take part in the A A Party entertainment was held in Hall E.

Tuesday morning at 8:45, the dance committee for the A A Party, which will be held Tuesday, May 29, met in the rear of the auditorium.

Wednesday morning at 8:45 the Theopylon Club met in Room 26.

Wednesday afternoon at 3:10, the Dramatic Club met in Room 20, at which time Raymond Anderson and Celia Miller were elected to finish out the remainder of the term as president and vice president, respectively. The former vice president graduated in January and the former president has left school.

Wednesday night at 8:15 the Boys' Hi-Y Club met in the Y. M. C. A. At this meeting President Harold Baltz appointed a nominating committee to nominate candidates for the offices next year. This committee consists of Forrest Bouten, chairman, Ebernon Hasbrouck, Bert MacFadden, Harold Baltz, Roger Mable, Lawrence Van Etten and Ellsworth Haines. The election of officers will be held at the next meeting.

Thursday morning the "B" Assembly was held in the auditorium. During this assembly period, the Girls' Hi-Y Club held a meeting in Hall B.

Thursday afternoon the Varsity Baseball Team held a meeting in Room 10 at 3:10.

The "A" Assembly was held this morning in the auditorium. A few "Maroons" annual yearbook can still be ordered. These must be ordered in Room 11.

During the past week tryouts were held for the Cheer leaders for next year. Those selected were Elsie McLean and Shirley Silverman.

New Zealand Tribal Laws Applied To Wage Earners In Antipodal Profit System

Hamilton, N. Z. (AP)—A native of New Zealand has been turned into a modern economic principle of employee partnership in business.

The new practice, inaugurated through the companies employing an act of 1924, is based on the theory that human values in business should be awarded dividends on service rendered while material values, which do not vary, should receive a stated reward.

Thus capital would receive a set return for a set contribution, while labor would receive an increased return for increased service.

The idea originated with Harry Valder, chairman of the Employee Partnership Institute of Hamilton. He says the Maoris based the rank of the individual on personal service to the tribe. In the early history of New Zealand it became necessary to adapt this custom to British law on property and the native land court initiated a system by which tribal land was allocated to Maoris according to their ranking.

System Easy to Adopt.
Today that theory is being used more widely in New Zealand and is receiving commendation from many business men, although actually it is not being put into practice on a broad scale.

Under the 1924 act it is optional with owners of a business and can be adopted through a slight change in articles of incorporation.

Business is divided into capital and labor. Capital is borrowed by the company at a predetermined rate of interest such as five per cent for service and three per cent for risk. No higher rate than the predetermined rate is paid, regardless of the profits made.

Labor shares are issued to employees roughly on the basis of their pay, which is presumed to be an index of service.

Worker's Voice in Business.
Net profits are used to pay dividends on the no-par labor shares. Holders of those shares are allowed full voice in the business along with holders of capital shares.

The Valder plan points to a community of interest, profit and control in business.

"It is not suggested that the payment of wages should cease," says its sponsor, "but that wages should be treated as an advance payment against labor's share of the product of industry."

The capitalistic system does not disappear, for the plan involves no reorganization of our present industrial system. The whole difference, apart from book entries, lies in the spirit.

In support of the system, the Employee Partnership Institute quoted Owen D. Young, of the General Electric Company, as saying:

"We have been talking a long time about capital as being the owner and labor as being the commodity. I hope we shall come to the day when human beings who give their lives to the job, if you want to call that labor, will be the employer and capital will be the commodity which they buy for their own account."

Urges "Cultural Wage."

"Then every idle machine in the plant, every piece of machinery not in motion, will be known by the workman to be an unproductive charge against himself."

"Not merely a living wage, but a cultural wage, must be the basis for the solving of the economic system of tomorrow."

Advocates of the employee partnership system point to a greater accord in business as one of their chief aims. For the employee they claim monetary reward, a voice in the business, a greater sense of responsibility, equality and security, and an additional incentive to work for just rewards.

For employers, or capital, the system claims greater security for capital investment, satisfaction in the knowledge that the principles of justice have been recognized, and an assured return on investment.

Decries Yuletide Bonns.

Two other plans for rewarding employees which have been put into effect in the United States are not approved in principle by the employee partnership advocates.

One is the plan for selling shares of company stock to employees on installments. This is deemed a system of borrowing part of the employee's earnings.

The other plan is the system of many companies in giving bonuses to employees, usually at Christmas.

That plan is criticized by employee partnership advocates to rely too much on the whim of the employer.

More Lessons

By MARY GRAYSON BONNER
Honey Bear and the cubs were all standing up on their hind legs. It was the cubs' first lesson in how to catch the scent of a person as it was carried by the breeze. They waited quietly, until Honey Bear knew that Grandpa Grouchy Galump, who had been around, had moved on. In order to be very careful, she had the cubs wait ever so softly on their padded feet just as she did.

She didn't think Grandpa would hurt her cubs, but she didn't like him, and she was not going to take any chances.

"Now," she said, "I will tell you all about the berries that are good to eat and those that would make you very sick."

And she led her cubs from bush to bush. Some of the berries looked exciting, but Honey Bear pointed out those that were unfit to eat.

So the cubs learned their lesson. "We'll return to Puddle Muddle for the last lesson of the day. You've already learned a great deal, my darlings."

When they reached Willy Nilly's they went back of the house where there were some old tins.

These tins had some food left in them for the Bears, and now Honey Bear showed her cubs how they could clean tins with their tongues and have delicious meals.

"You see," she explained, "you must be very careful never to cut your mouths on the ragged edges. And the way to do it is to put the tongue into the tin as far as it will go. Don't try to put your whole face into the tin! You each have a good, long tongue."

They liked this lesson, but Blacky had an idea of his own. "Alas, it didn't work out well at all!"

Installed New Scout Troop at St. Joseph's

A new Boy Scout troop, No. 2, was installed with proper ceremonies at St. Joseph's Hall Thursday evening. William Edelmutz acted as chairman of the meeting and after the invocation by the Rev. Edmund Burke, welcomed the parents and friends present and then introduced John F. Nelson, chairman of the troop committee, who told of the work done and to be accomplished. Mr. Edelmutz then introduced the other members of the troop committee and scoutmasters, after which Scout Executive Wright conducted the installation ceremonies.

President William B. Martin of the Holy Name Society, which sponsors the troop, addressed the troop, following which a troop flag and American flag were presented. John J. Egan and Robert Lacombe making the presentation on behalf of their respective committees. They were received for the troop by second class scouts John F. Nelson, Jr., and John J. Bennett, Jr. A chaplain's pin was presented to the Rev. Edmund Burke by Assistant Scoutmaster Edward Doolan, who also presented patrol flags and officers' and scribes' pins. Martin Glenon, on behalf of the troop, thanked the pastor, the Holy Name Society and others for what they had done and pledged the troop to show its appreciation.

The program closed with the scout oath and benediction. The troop committee is composed of: The Rev. Edmund Burke, chaplain; John F. Nelson, chairman; J. Edward Phelan, out of doors man; Vincent A. Gorman, educational man; John N. Corbett, thrift man; William F. Edelmutz, service man; Eugene B. Carey is the representative on Council organization; Ed. Roehford, scoutmaster; Edward Doolan, assistant scoutmaster; Dr. John F. Larkin, troop surgeon. The three patrols, with their leaders and assistants, are: Beaver—John Bennett, John Rice; Pine Tree—John Nelson, Edwin Cahill; Fox—John Cook, Joseph Ashdown. Richard Whalen is the scribe and Martin Glenon supply officer.

A New Departure in Department Stores

The alterations and redecoration in the building of E. Winter's Sons, 326 Wall street, designed by Teller and Halverson, architects of this city, have just been completed under their supervision.

The novel and interesting arrangement is now for this locality, where by two concerns will occupy the same building, offering the public one entrance as in a department store with access to all departments of both stores within the building.

A stairway in the rear will also be used in common for access to departments on the second floor.

E. Winter's Sons, which has occupied the store for many years, will continue its stationery, book and music departments, established by the present owners' father 36 years ago. These departments are now arranged in the southern half of the store.

The firm of Sweeney and Schonger, carrying a fine line of sporting goods and men's wear, is now moved in and occupying the northern side of the store. Both firms are now open for business and invite the public to visit and inspect their new arrangement. Peter S. Osterhoudt and Son were contractors for the alterations, Roswell Cole the electrical work and Chester A. Dolson, painting and decorating.

Unemployed May Form Cooperative

There will be a meeting in the West Park Community House on Wednesday, May 2 at 8 p. m. to consider the organization of a "Co-operative-Self Help Unit" under the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for this neighborhood. Miss Ernestine L. Friedmann, administrative assistant in Workers' Education in the Department of the Interior, Washington, will be present to present the matter to those who attend. In communities where there are little possibilities for steady employment, the plan of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for Co-operative-Self Help Units offers an opportunity for partial self support. Any group of residents, provided they are unemployed, may form a cooperative association and apply for a Federal grant.

This fund may be used for the establishment of workshops of various kinds, or for other projects under government auspices, such as construction work, community improvement plans, etc. Products of the workshop may be used by the members of the cooperative, or be traded with other cooperatives, or sold to relief agencies. This meeting, to be held in the Community House, West Park, on the evening of May 2, is to discuss the possibilities of such a plan as they might apply to this neighborhood including Milton, Highland, West Park, Esopus and Ulster Park. Those who at present have no steady work (either men or women), are invited to meet and hear these plans discussed more in detail.

The Rev. Mr. Dunseath has been in communication with the FERA in Washington, in connection with this project, and is pleased to offer the hospitality of the Ascension Community House for this meeting.

Children Shelved In Turks Rush To Class Rooms

Ankara (AP)—When Mustafa Kemal gave Turkey a new and easy alphabet, patriotic boosters boasted that illiteracy would be swept out of the country before anybody could say the Turkish equivalent for Jack Robinson.

Now, although more than a million adults have been taught the new ABC's, an official voice confesses that child education has been badly neglected.

Ismet Pasha, prime minister, in a speech before the people's party leaders, divulged that two-thirds of the children in Turkey who should be attending grammar school have no schools to attend. Existing schools, he said, can accommodate only one-third of the children who are of grammar school age.

To meet this situation Turkey hopes to build 1,000 village schools within the coming year.

Dr. Beryl Parker, of New York, well-known American educationalist, is working for the Turkish government at Ankara on primary school reform.

PRE-HUN RUNC LETTERS PUZZLE BUDAPEST SAGES

Budapest (AP)—A little known form of writing which is almost as mysterious as Etruscan, is being studied at the Hungarian national museum in a manuscript found in Switzerland.

Written in old runic characters used by the Seklers, a brother race of the Huns which settled in Transylvania two centuries before the latter reached Europe, it is related both to Turkish and to writing found in Siberian caves.

No Coffee, No Wine, Brazil Rule

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt's approval of the Lea-Norris proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college may mean final disposition of a proposition which has been hanging fire in congress for 108 years.

The White House is on record as jettisoning the proposal in "sound and good" and that as far as the President is concerned he would be "glad to see it put through at this session."

Although the President has no official connection with amendments to the constitution—they go direct to the states from congress without his signature—the fact that he is in sympathy with this proposal undoubtedly will have its effect.

There's a striking non-partisan angle to the Lea-Norris proposal. Lea is a democratic member of the house now serving his ninth term. For his last eight terms republicans and democrats in the first California district have elected him as their common candidate.

First Raised in 1826

SENATOR NORRIS of Nebraska is a progressive republican who supported President Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign and since has been one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the "new deal."

With party lines so obliterated at the start, it would seem that the present is an excellent time to rid the congressional slate of its perennial proposal for a major reform.

The question of abolition of the electoral college first was raised as far back as January 4, 1826. The proposal for direct election of the President and vice president was offered in the house by McManus of New York. The move was induced by the result of the presidential election of 1824 when Andrew Jackson, although receiving the largest popular vote, was defeated in the house of representatives.

Century Of Opposition

UNDER the electoral system as now constituted it is possible for a President to be elected although receiving fewer popular votes than his opponent.

Rutherford B. Hayes became President in 1876 under such circumstances. Later, in 1858, Benjamin Harrison entered the White House in similar fashion.

From 1826 to 1859, the year after Harrison became President, the same proposition for direct election of the President and vice president in various forms was presented some 24 times.

From 1859 to 1929, the record shows that 53 attempts have been made to change the existing method.

Representative Lea took up the fight in 1929 and has pushed it in every congress since.

Mexico Distributes Farms

Get the Habit of
Drinking Hot Water
Before Breakfast
Says we can't look or feel right with the system
full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally
now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in
it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter-pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store.
This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.
It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Looking for Trouble." Laughs come with increasing fervor in this madcap melodrama with Spencer Tracy and Jack Oakie co-starring as a comedy duo for the first time. The boys are a couple of trouble-shooters for a telephone company, and their work is just one long series of exciting events. They get into numerous added difficulties because they pry into business not of their concern. A vein of lusty comedy runs through the whole show, and a bit of romance is added
too. Fast moving entertainment.

Orpheum: "Orient Express." What happens on a crack oriental train as it dashes along to its destination is described in the "Grand Hotel" school of photography. Personalities are the big thing in this story, and the action goes from one scene over to another, disjointed at first, but the flash backs the characters each playing an important part to round out the story structure. There is excitement and action in swift variety, and the work of the cast and the director is efficient and well done.
Ralph Morgan, Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Herbert Mundin and Una O'Connor are featured.

Broadway: "Four Vanderbills Arise" and "Come On Marines." A variety entertainment is offered on the Broadway stage as it continues its popular policy of vaudeville. Four new acts complete the stage show, all of them recognized as entertaining and well trained units. "Come On Marines" with Richard Arlen, Ira
Lupino, Monte Blue, Toby Wing and Roscoe Karns is a husky and amusing show. It describes the hardships of a band of Marines as they fight their way through treacherous jungles to rescue some pretty Enish-ing school girls who are trapped

there. This tale bristles with action and humor, and is good for an evening of rough adventure.

Templeton: "Men in White." One of the best pictures to visit the screen is this medical story of a young doctor, torn between marrying a wealthy girl and establishing a busy and lucrative practice or to accept the opportunity of working with a famous scientist, a job that brings little reward and years of hard, grinding work. Hospital scenes and the daily life about a hospital are brought home with force.
One of the most touching and realistic scenes in the show is Clark
Gable's episode with a small sick girl. It is a dramatic masterpiece.
Entertaining, direct, flawless and emotional, this story is exceptional screen fare. The supporting cast includes Myrna Loy, Otto Kruger, Jean Harsholt and Elizabeth Allan. Grand entertainment. Don't miss.
Orpheum: Same.
Broadway: Same.

Sweeney, Schonger In New Location

The Sweeney and Schonger sport 122 good and more than 1000 will open tomorrow morning in the new Wall Street establishment, having moved the early part of the week from their former Wall Street store.
The new store will occupy half of the first and second floors of the building, with the stationery and book store of E. Winter and the business in the other half of the building. A partition separates the two stores but the front and rear of the store has been left open, allowing access to each store from the street.

Dillinger Bluffs Way Out Of Jail:
Slips From Trap In North Woods

Desperado John Dillinger sat in his cell at the Lake county jail in Crown Point, Ind., whittling as he awaited trial for killing a policeman. The Midwest's craftiest badman was behind the bars. But Saturday morning, March 3, a guard looked into the business end of a "pistol" and was ordered by Dillinger to "unlock." Grabbing the guard's revolver, Dillinger clapped him in the cell and turned the key. "Ha, Ha!" he laughed. "I did it with a wooden gun." He had whittled his way to freedom.

With a negro cellmate, Dillinger then rushed the warden's office, took two machine guns and forced a deputy sheriff to join them as they retreated through the jail kitchen and out to the garage. They stole the speediest car and roared away, releasing the hostage at Pontiac, Ill. Apparently Dillinger hovered near Chicago for several days after the break. The map (above) indicates what officials suppose was his general trail as he sneaked over the Midwest.

He was reported seen in Schiller Park, Ill., and Mason City, Ia. He fled a trap at St. Paul on March 31, probably wounded by officers' fire. (Carthage, Ill., was believed his next stop—then Noblesville, Ind. With typical audacity he had Sunday dinner with his father near Mooresville, Ind., April 8, but the news didn't leak out for several days. Meanwhile he bobbed up in Warsaw, Ind., to steal arms and bullet proof vests from the police station. He was reported in Brownsburg, Ind., and South Bend.

His trail was getting hotter. With John Hamilton, a gunner pal, he stopped in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 15. As an army of federal, state and local officers tightened their net, the elusive bandit fled to Wisconsin's north woods and on April 20 "took over" the Little Bohemia tavern near Rhinelander. Six men and three women were with him. Sunday night, April 22, a band of officers crept through the woods to nail him, dead or alive. There was a gun battle, deaths, injuries; but the snake-like outlaw jumped from a window and when morning came he was gone.

A dragnet swept the woods around Meiner, Wis. Thousands of "tips" poured in to the army of federal agents concentrated there. Everybody had seen Dillinger. He popped up in two or three places at once. He was reported speeding over half a dozen highways, robbing and terrorizing—still America's Public Enemy No. 1, and still running wild.

Weir Astounds Steel World With Profits

Pittsburgh, April 27 (AP).—Dynamic E. T. Weir—Ernie to his friends—who showed the giant steel industry money could be made during the darkest hours of depression, further surprised it today with the first quarter earnings statement of his National Steel Corporation. In three months the concern earned 76 cents on its 2,156,822 shares of stock outstanding, as much as paid all last year in dividends. Steel circles had heard numerous industrial firms were giving Weir steel orders in sympathy with his fight against the labor board. The industry, however, did not expect the corporation's profits to sum so high.

Net earnings were $1,612,227 after $847,000 had been set aside for depreciation; $493,700 for interest and $362,000 for federal income taxes. Gross earnings had exceeded $3,345,000.

This compared with earnings for the first quarter of 1933 of $250,841 and of $242,550 for the final quarter last year.

U. S. Steel lost $6,989,000 for the first quarter this year; Bethlehem $302,000; Jones and Laughlin $1,324,000 and Republic Steel $58,600. Inland Steel was the only large company outside National to make a profit, clearing $1,104,000.

ROBOT SLEUTH MAY READ HUMAN MIND

Electric Device Will Open New Era, Scientists Say.

Milwaukee.—Inquisitive science has developed an electric detective that is so sensitive that after it has been studied for a while it will undoubtedly be able to tell you what you are thinking about.

It was designed to tell the resistance of matter under observation to an electric current. It is what is known as the Wheatstone bridge, and several of the devices are in use in Milwaukee now. Marquette university has them in the physiology department and in the college of engineering. The college of engineering uses them in its electrical classes.

The United States bureau of fisheries at Gloucester, Mass., has been able to tell, with this device, just how fresh a fish really is. It can be used to determine spurious coins from real ones—because a standard coin, which is an alloy, has a standard resistance to electricity, and any other alloy will vary from that.

Holding one of these devices in his hand, Oscar D. Werwath, president of the Milwaukee School of Engineering, said: "This little instrument is capable of measuring ohm resistance with as wide a variation as 10,000 ohms. It can pick out a resistance of one ten-thousandth of an ohm. This makes its practical application unlimited."

He went on to say that each person is more or less magnetic. The brain especially, he said, is an enormous creator of electricity, inasmuch as each particle is in itself a sort of electric cell.

"Why," he said, "it might be possible with such a delicate device, after years of research, to be able to read a person's mind, through the amount of current that one can send off in the process of thinking."

Fishing Is Good
Three billion tons of fish are taken annually from the waters of the United States and Alaska.

"8 Ball" Is Latest Navy Airplane Unit Insignia

Washington.—Pool players readily will comprehend why the navy's flying patrol squadron "8F" uses a winged "eight ball" for its insignia in place of King Neptune.

The object of the pool game known as "eight ball" is to pocket all the balls numbered from one to seven and then sink No. 8 before your opponent sinks those from nine to fifteen and likewise pockets the "eight ball." If, however, you drop the "eight ball" by mistake before you have pocketed the others, you lose.

The new insignia signifies that the squadron considers itself the last to drop and dangerous to be played with.

On the other hand the discarded design portraying Neptune sitting on a rock in the ocean seemed to suggest a fallen aviator scanning the horizon for friends coming to his rescue rather than its original inference of the "king of the sea" looking for enemies.

Dr. Eckener Is Planning 4-Continent Air Route

London.—Plans for a German airship service linking the United States to South America, Europe and southwestern Asia were outlined here by Hugo Eckener, Count Zeppelin's successor as head of the German dirigible enterprise.

Eckener revealed the great dirigible now being built in Germany—larger than the American Macon—would be used in a triangular service from central Europe to North and South America.

Y. W. C. A. Drive Is Set for May 14-19

Announcement is made by the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. that they will hold the annual budget drive the week of May 14 to 19. The budget of the association has been reduced to a minimum in view of the present economic situation, and the goal is set at $7,000 for the fiscal year of May, 1934, to May, 1935.

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, April 27—A card party was held in the general store of Homer Hill at Plattekill Wednesday evening, for the benefit of the Plattekill fire department.

Jerry Naughton was a caller in Modena Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston were callers in New Paltz last week. Leander Minard has been drawn as trial juror at the convening of court at the county court house.

Colorful, Frivolous, Practical— That's The New Evening Mode

The gown on the left is made of soft white lace and is intended for summer's most formal affairs. Its only ornament is a cluster of white camellias at the waist. Molyneux designed it. From formality we turn to frivolity, for that is the essence of the black lace frock on the right which Lejong designs for summer dances.

KERHONKSON

The Ladies Aid met at the Reformed Church on Wednesday afternoon.

The many friends of Fred Schoonmaker are glad to learn he has returned home after being at the hospital for four months.

The Misses Dorothy and Maude Miller spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ben Markle.

The young ladies of the M. E.

Church met at the parsonage on Monday night to organize an Epworth League.

George Elfrey of Ellenville spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Osterhoudt for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osborne spent Tuesday with Mrs. Minnie Schoonmaker and family.

"To Eat Humble Pie"

Here, humble is a pun on umble, the umbles being the heart, liver, and entrails of deer, the hunters' perquisites. When the lord and his household dined, the venison pasty was served on the dais, while the umbles were made into a pie for the huntsman and his fellows, who took the lower seats.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, April 27—The Main-stay Fellowship Club of the Methodist Church sponsored a silver tea in the church recreation room Wednesday afternoon. There was entertainment of piano solos by Miss Blanche Guinaz and vocal solos by Miss Clara Westover. Miss Thelma Dedrick poured.

Mrs. Abel Quick entertained Mrs. Snyder of Virginia on Wednesday. Mrs. Snyder, a former resident of New Paltz, expects to spend the summer in California.

Mr. and Mrs. George Topping, Mrs. Irving Avery and little daughter, Florence, Mrs. Annie Avery and daughter, all of Newburgh called on Mrs. Mary E. Kniffen, Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Helen Parker underwent an operation for appendicitis Monday at the Kingston Hospital.

Carlton Wright, who will graduate from the Normal in June, has accepted a position to teach in Wallkill next year.

Grant Shelly and Marshall Van Alst of New Paltz were among the visitors attending the meeting of Highland Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, on Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roosa of Rural Avenue were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gear of High Falls.

Miss Mary Ellen Rich and Howard Mosher of the Normal School faculty visited the Rock School at Rifton one day last week.

Vernard Wager of Plattekill was a caller in town Friday.

Ralph M. Pearson, distinguished artist and author, gave a lecture in the Normal School auditorium Tuesday night, April 24. His subject was "What is Modern Art?"

Miss Esther Bessley, of the Normal faculty, has taken art courses with Mr. Pearson at his art colony at Gloucester, Mass. At present Mr. Pearson is a lecturer at the new School for Social Research in New York city.

The musical organization banquet of the Normal which was to have been Wednesday evening, April 25, has been postponed to Tuesday evening, May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakley are in Poughkeepsie for a while, where Mr. Oakley has employment.

Niles Haight of Maybrook called on his uncle, Sidney Haight, in Ohioville recently.

Mrs. White and son, Geoffrey, have returned from the south.

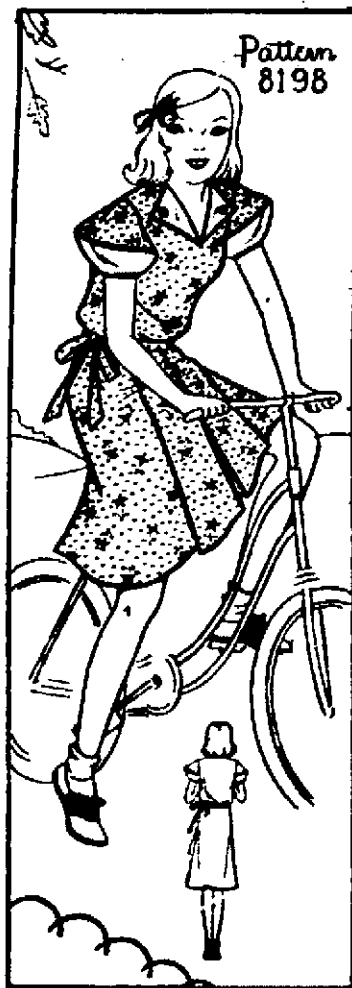

The annual New Paltz Riding Club horse show will be held May 7, at 4:30, on the New Paltz flats. If it rains it will be held the following week at the same time and place.

There is no admission fee, but contributions will be received which will go to the milk fund.

Mrs. Ralph Gardner has been confined to her home with a cold.

Mrs. Hannah Davis of Poughkeepsie called on friends in this vicinity on Friday.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS.

Young Girl's Cotton Frock. PATTERN 8198.

The attractive simplicity of the design pictured here, is at once apparent to the woman who sews. The sleeves and neckline are very becoming and very easy to make and the two box pleats in the front of the skirt give freedom and movement.

This dress pictured here in printed percale would also be very attractive in checked gingham, of yellow, orange and brown, for instance, with revers and lower sleeves of yellow and brown buttons. Or it would be equally smart in pink non-crushable linen and trimmed with white.

Designed in sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 10 requires 2 yards of 35 inch material and 1/3 yard contrasting with 1 1/2 yard of bias binding 1 1/2 inch wide.

The Wonderly Co. Reopening

We have, after many setbacks, finally moved into our new building at

and will be open for inspection tonight, Friday, from 7 to 9 p. m.

Saturday we will be open for business.

Because of the uncertainty of our opening, we will not be able to advertise any merchandise.

Dairy Production Control Postponed

The Farm Bureau has received word from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration that it will not undertake the benefit payment dairy control program at the present time. This decision was made after a careful study of the situation presented at a series of 15 meetings throughout the nation, at which the majority were opposed to the program.

Beavers and Muskrats
Beavers and muskrats will be quite plentiful in the same areas.

State Inspector Seized Beverages

Joseph W. Mahoney, a state inspector of the state Alcohol Control Board, stopped at police headquarters Tuesday evening and asked that an officer be assigned to go with him while he made several inspections. Officer Flannery was assigned to assist him in the upper section and Officer Brophy in the downtown section of the city. It is said he obtained what he termed illegal beverages in two places and removed the stuff to the city hall for evidence.

Comes New Enthusiasm for Lace

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

HOW about it, have you caught the Parisian inspiration for lace? Of course you have, or will have, before the season is far advanced. It just isn't possible to tread the highways and byways in fashionland and remain immune to the lure of lace.

In the couturier showings for spring and summer, 1934, comes before our enraptured eyes a continuous procession of frothy, frilly, filmy dance and dinner frocks created of tulle and lace by such artists as Lelong, Mainbocher, Dikusha and a host of other designers of high degree. A very new, very lovely and very chic idea is to animate slim, figure-fitting soft lace gowns with myriads of crisp tulle ruffles at shoulders and hemlines. One such is fashioned of shell-pink lace with crisp, sheer ruffles posed at the arms with billowy fullness about the hemline achieved through a frou-frou of many rufflings. The all-black lace gown with crisp black tulle ruffles or fine pleatings is a particular favorite.

In contrast to the airy-fairy types of fluttery lace and tulle is the gown of classic lines fashioned of handsome soft mat lace, a lace, by the way, which is outstanding in the mode. In the illustration we are showing an exquisite evening dress of white mat lace made especially by Molyneux for one of the major social events of Paris. It took the first prize at a ball.

It would be a mistake, however, to carry the thought that the new laces are limited to the languid, glamorous social life. As a matter of fact, the most exciting doings of lace are taking place in the realm of tailors and sports clothes. Especially attractive and eminently practical for daytime is the suit of beige lace with blouse of navy georgette or the jacket ensemble of green net with blouse of beige alencon lace.

Lace for bathing suits, too, which makes real news, and for hats, for handbags, for ravishing neckwear and for entire dresses, ensembles and blouses, for gloves, too, if you please, and we must not forget the "daring" lace-covered slippers that will dance to sweet strains of music under starlit skies.

Because a dress is fashioned of lace does not mean that it may not be smartly wearable and conservative. The afternoon dress of green wool lace on the seated figure in the picture is just such—one of the outstanding models of the house of Dikusha. It is a princess model and is finished with a draped collar held by one of the new polished wood clips.

A delicate web of black chantilly lace for the bodice top enhances the feminine allure of the dinner and after gown centered in the group. Exquisitely thin cobwebby laces of this sort have captured the heart of the fashionable world this season, either in black, in white or pale beige, and in every imaginable pastel tone. The contrast between this lace and the soft mat velvet of the dress illustrated serves to emphasize the high neckline which is held with a crystal bar. The close wrist sleeves display the delicately traced lace patterning to perfection.

ORGANDIE CAPE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Capes made of sheer organza, nets and mousselines similar to the model pictured are writing a charming chapter into the history of summer wraps. The theme of these dainty little shouldered wraps is being made much of by designers. At Paris social gatherings you see them created of the most fascinating colorful sheers fancy can picture. The gown is of white transparent mousseline with large navy polka dots, for dots of every size from pin to coin and larger are the rage this season. There's nothing smarter than white with navy for evening wear.

SHADES OF VIOLET BLOSSOMING GAYLY

Purples and violet shades are blossoming gayly in fashion for spring, 1934. Last season some purple was seen in boucles and knitted frocks, and this year it is out in cottons and linens. For a long time it was felt that heliotrope, orchid and violet shades were impossible in wash fabrics, as they came out in dull, muddy shades and did not hold their colors. These objections have been overcome, and the new violet range in handkerchief linens, French linens, ginghams, organdies and shirtings are among the smartest of the season's offerings. Cotton frocks in these colors are sometimes combined with little jackets of purple wool or velveteen.

This new trend is as important for children as for grown-ups.

Spring Hats Are Planned to Show Plenty of Hair

Dutch bonnets, Breton sailors' hats and the jaunty turned up brims worn by the musketeers of D'Artagnan's day inspire the first spring hats now shown in modistes' salons.

Eight out of ten roll right back from the face, making clear skins and smart coiffures of prime importance.

The rest tilt forward over one eye in a line as rakish as fashion has shown. But all are as feminine in design and effect as a perfumed handkerchief.

"Show as much hair as possible," seems to be the decree. Many models are worn well back of the hair line, others tilted well to one side (generally the right) to show the other side of the head.

Spring Wools

This year's wools are worn to fall in soft, heavy folds, cloaking the figure in graceful lines. Most of them are worn "tone on tone" with irregular stripes or bands of the same color making their design.

been given one way or the other. Had he been told not to proceed by the state he could not have done so. If the project numbers and road numbers were changed from 1534, 1531 and 1532, he said it would be found that the program of highway construction as planned by the county board of supervisors had been carried out. There might have been less work on a road in some season or more on another road but the program had been carried out over that period of time.

Blue-prints For TB Hospital

In regard to the blue-prints for the TB hospital he said that had he not made them they would have had to be sent to New York or Albany and delay would have resulted. All road projects he said had been approved before any work had been done but in cases work had been done on projects before an appropriation had been actually made. This appropriation had later been made by the board. Appropriations for roads as asked for had been made with the idea that that amount could be expended in a working season. Later weather conditions or unforeseen difficulty sometimes made that impossible. If the road was not completed under the appropriation made for the year an additional appropriation was asked the following year to complete the work.

Payment Provided by Law

Mr. Ewig asked whether the state would have paid its share of the highway aid money if it had been known that some roads were not completed. Mr. Loughran said the payment of state money was provided for by law.

Mr. Flemming asked the witness whether the State Commissioner of Highways had taken notice of these overdrafts and surpluses and had knowledge of their existence. To that Mr. Ewig objected and the only vote of the morning was sustained 17 to 15. Mr. Flemming said he wanted to clear up that situation as counsel had referred to it. Mr. Ewig argued that letters in evidence showed whether the department had such knowledge.

Recess to 1:30 o'clock.

British Hold Grave German Debt Stand

London, April 27 (AP).—The British government has warned Germany that it would take a "grave view" of any proposal to apply a transfer moratorium to the Dawes and Young loans, the Associated Press learned today.

This warning was delivered formally to Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, in Berlin yesterday by Sir Eric Phipps, ambassador to Germany.

There have been recurrent rumors that the Reich intended to take such a step.

British official circles, however, professed today to have no knowledge officially from Berlin that Germany would take such action.

It was considered significant that the British warning was placed in the hands of the German government on the eve of the opening of a series of conferences in connection with medium and long term credit.

Further procedure of the British government, it was indicated, will be contingent upon discussions under way in Berlin.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 27 (AP)—Commodities displayed rallying tendencies today, but uncertainties in the market kept prices from advancing beyond a narrow range.

Wheat recovered around 1 cent after early hesitancy, and silver came back about 1 cent an ounce. The bar metal was also advanced by 1 cent to 43 cents. Cotton followed wheat and rubber developed strength on further reports that a world output agreement was near. International dollar rates showed only minor changes. Bonds were still a bit irregular.

There was virtually no public participation in equities and floor traders continued to account for the halting quotations on the stock tape. The quietness was pronounced during the major part of the session.

Shares of Johns-Manville, International Paper, preferred, Snyder Packing, American Bank Note and American Commercial Alcohol got up a point or so each. Small gains were recorded by Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, N. Y. Central and some of the other rails. Case, C. S. Steel, American Telephone, International Harvester and most of the so-called leaders were unchanged to slightly lower.

Continental gas sagged. American Smelting firm, but the majority of the metals did little. Chrysler and General Motors were about even, as were most of the oils and utilities.

Block Administration Kiwanians Hear Talk Police Station Keys Brought Kyrock Here On Municipal Water Are Found on Woman

Announcement That Works Division of TERA Plans to Lay Kyrock on Hurley Avenue Recall Introduction of That Kind of Pavement More Under Democratic Administration.

The story of how Kyrock first came to be used as a paving stone on the streets of Kingston was interesting reading. At the time the late Morris Block was mayor of Kingston he had as a member of the board of public works the Rev. Mr. Greenwell, then pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, who was very active in civic affairs.

One summer the Rev. Mr. Greenwell spent his vacation in the south where he was much interested in some of the fine pavements and investigated and learned that they were built of Kyrock. On his return to Kingston he introduced the material into the board of public works in Kingston and as a result the material was ordered and laid on several streets. Again during the administration of E. J. Dempsey as mayor, which followed the Block administration, Kyrock was used to some extent here.

When Eugene R. Carey became mayor he introduced American material into Kingston, which was used on several streets. The late Palmer Canfield was the mayor who first introduced White as a pavement in Kingston.

The announcement that the Works Division has ordered five cars of Kyrock to use in resurfacing Hurley avenue has revived interest in that paving material.

G. W. Calver of Troy, Miss. Guest speaker at tomorrow's Clinton Hotel luncheon—Local Water Board Members Were Guests.

Water was plentiful and every drop fit to drink. It was said that the water driven from the Clinton Hotel on Thursday morning by James M. Calver of Troy, who is an authority on municipal water supply systems. Many of the listeners were so impressed that they did not leave until the water was prepared for human consumption.

Mr. Calver illustrated his talk with pictures of past and present water purification systems, explaining in detail the change in method and equipment that has taken place in delivering an increasing better product to the faucet. The Kingston Water Company originally installed its system in 1905, 51 years ago. In 1906 the city purchased the plant and in the next year installed 8 filter units. Today we have 16 of these units in operation.

In 1912 the laboratory for testing the water was installed. Typhoid fever has been the only disease traceable to certain water supply systems and Mr. Calver gave the death rate per 100,000 population since 1907 to show how the Kingston supply has been improved.

1907-1910, the rate per 100,000 was 22.2 deaths; 1911-1924, the rate per 100,000 was 15.4 deaths; 1925-1931, the rate per 100,000 was 2.1 deaths; 1932 to date the rate per 100,000 was 0.

In 1932 the average consumption of water was 1,611,500 gallons or 1.658 gallons per person per day and this means that 13,227 tons of water is handled by the system per day.

Water is our cheapest commodity, the speaker said, but we little realize the dependence upon it until a break in the main occurs. He said he knew little about our water system and should visit the plant and learn more.

Mayor Heiselman of Kingston and Mayor Wendell Phillips of Fort Jervis together with H. A. Harcourt, M. D. Cashin, J. H. Harrison, R. W. Harrison and Max Reben of the water supply department and Alexander Tallman were guests of the day.

Alleged Aide of Dillinger, Evelyn Frechette, Had to Make Mad Possession of Keys to Hollywood Police Headquarters.

Los Angeles, April 27 (AP)—A report that keys to the Hollywood police station had been found in the possession of Evelyn Frechette, alleged aide of John Dillinger, stirred police in the movie city today.

The Times said keys found in the woman's possession had been tried by department of justice agents in the locks of the police station and that they fitted the door to the detective bureau and "other strategic places."

Joseph Dunn, in charge of the department of justice agents here, declined to comment.

The newspaper said police officers were shown pictures of the Frechette woman, who is credited with supplying Dillinger with the wooden gun with which he bluffed his way out of the Crown Point, Ind., jail, but none recognized her.

No one could offer a theory as to how the keys might have come into her possession.

Val F. Montgomery, secretary of the company here which supplied the police station locks, said there was no chance of duplication of the keys without inspection of anyone for whom they were not intended until after the locks were installed and in use.

"It is, of course, easy if one is careless in displaying the keys for another to have them copied," Montgomery said. "All that is necessary is for the counterfeiter to obtain the serial number and the make of key and an expert key maker can duplicate the original in a few minutes."

A "thorough investigation," was promised by Chief of Police James E. Davis.

Silence at St. Paul. St. Paul, April 27 (AP)—Evelyn Frechette, sweetheart of John Dillinger, much sought outlaw, is in jail here awaiting action by a federal grand jury today on a charge of harboring the fugitive in a St. Paul apartment from which he escaped March 31 after a gun fight.

Federal officials refused to comment on reports from Los Angeles that keys to the Hollywood police station had been found in the Frechette woman's possession here.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton Lowery, widow of Michael Lowery, died at Kingston today. She is survived by one son, Frank A. Lowery of Athens, and two daughters, Mrs. William MacDonell and Mrs. Joseph Craven of Kingston. A requiem Mass will be offered in St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, on Monday at 10 o'clock. Interment in Rosendale.

Plattekill, April 27—Funeral services for Charles Ira Thompson were held in the late home this afternoon. Interment was in the Rosendale Rural cemetery. Pall bearers were George Wilson, William Mack, Elbridge Gerry, Ralph Birdall, Clifford House, Harry Jenkins, Mr. Thompson was assessor of the town of Plattekill for many years, succeeding his father in the office upon the latter's death. He was also postmaster of the Plattekill Grange No. 923.

The funeral of Mrs. Isaac Van Kleeck, who died at her home in Roxbury, on Tuesday, was held at the Roxbury M. E. Church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was largely attended. The Rev. H. S. Van Woorst, pastor of the "Gould Memorial Church" of Roxbury, officiated. During the service Robert R. Craft rendered very feelingly "The City With Beautiful Gates." Interment was in the Methodist church cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Quinn of that church conducted the committal service. Mrs. Van Kleeck is survived by her husband, two sons, Harry H. and Bruce R., both of Kingston, and two sisters, Mrs. Willis Chase of Roxbury, and Mrs. Susan Rowland of Oneonta, and five grandchildren. Her family has the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Central Business Men Protest Code

Code Would Prevent Canning Department in Three Local Factories From Operating and Would Throw 40 Men Out of Work—Annual Spring Banquet on May 1.

Deciding to send telegrams to President Roosevelt, General Hugh S. Johnston and Dr. Earl Dean Howard at Washington, protesting the ruling in the code for the cotton garment industry which will throw 40 local cutters out of work in three factories here, and arranging for the annual spring banquet of the association to be held Tuesday evening, May 1, in Winter's Restaurant on Broadway, were the more important matters taken up at the meeting of the Central Business Association on Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

William O'Reilly, president of the association, brought up the matter of the cotton garment industry code and said that it would affect three local factories, Fuller's, Fessenden and Baltz, and that the three plants had considerable money invested in their cutting departments and employed about 40 cutters. The association unanimously directed Mr. O'Reilly to send telegrams to Washington to protest and asking that the ruling in the code be revised.

The annual spring banquet will be held next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in Winter's Restaurant and there will be several speakers who will discuss topics of interest to the association. It is planned to end the meeting as early as possible so that those who are planning to attend will be present at the Common Council meeting that evening.

Boy Didn't Go To School: Cost $10

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McGinnis of 493 Wilbur avenue, has been a truant from school. As a result the parents were arrested on a warrant sworn out by Miss Anna Heaney, school trustee officer, charging the parents with violating the education law in not keeping the son in school. This morning in police court both parents were fined $10 each. The father paid the fine for himself, and the wife's fine was suspended.

Joseph Weber of Howland avenue, arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, was sentenced to 30 days in jail. Twenty days of the sentence was suspended and he is to serve ten days.

Bremer Ransom Cash Is Found on Suspect

Chicago, April 27 (AP)—Arrest of a suspect carrying $3,000 of the $200,000 paid for the release of Edward Bremer, St. Paul banker and brewer, from kidnapers several months ago was disclosed here today.

The suspect, William E. Vidler, 34, a reputed ex-convict, was arrested yesterday in a Chicago gambling establishment and has been held incommunicado.

After others in his office had denied reports of the arrest for several hours, Neil H. Purvis, chief of the U. S. division of investigation here, acknowledged that Vidler was in custody and the money recovered. The money found in Vidler's pockets, Purvis disclosed, included $2,665 in $5 and $10 bills identified as part of the ransom money.

Police said Vidler lived in Chicago, and that he had served a sentence of one to 10 years in the Illinois prison for automobile theft.

Federal authorities said they hoped Vidler's arrest would help to bring about apprehension of other suspects in the kidnaping and, perhaps aid in recovery of additional ransom payment.

Show Tonight At Walkkill Prison

The first annual variety show at Walkkill State Prison is one of the most complete and unique attractions of its kind ever offered to the public as was shown last night when it was staged under the direction of L. W. Davis, director of recreation. There will be another performance tonight, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

Drama, humor, song, dance and art combine to make the program an enjoyable one. From the rise of the first curtain when negro spirituals and modern music vie with red hot dancing and snappy lines at the Georgia Revival meeting to the last country store, the spirit of good fun and wholesome entertainment prevails.

Tickets may be obtained at the door tonight.

Contact Is Reported With Girl Kidnapers

Tucson, Ariz., April 27 (AP)—A Pima county deputy sheriff, who declined to allow his name to be used, said today he understood a contact had been made during the night with the kidnapers of six-year-old June Robles.

The contact, if it was made, was believed to have followed a temporary withdrawal of official and volunteer searchers at 2 a. m. by request of the Robles family.

No immediate confirmation of the negotiation report was forthcoming. Members of the family were quoted by investigators as saying they desired to negotiate direct with the abductors, if possible, fearing the little dark-eyed girl's life would be forfeited if the search continued much longer without result.

The unverified report said that Bernabe Robles, reputedly wealthy grandfather of the child, had agreed, in communication with the abductors, to pay the $15,000 ransom demanded.

Members of the family refused to make any statement.

The hunt, to which hundreds of volunteers, including American Legion men and gun-belted riders of the cattle ranges had rallied, remained officially in abeyance.

The cowmen, however, remained in the alert, ready to ride to the aid of the aged cattle baron, whose history dates back to the days of the Spanish land grants, should the reported negotiations miss fire.

Ollie Catfish Forced To Give Nelson Aid

Lac Du Flambeau, Wis., April 27 (AP)—Ollie Catfish, an Indian, was the unwilling companion of a man believed to be George "Baby Face" Nelson, Dillinger gangster, who had stolen an automobile near here and eluded trap set by federal agents today. Catfish said he had been forced to give directions to the gangster.

The man who answered the description of Nelson is believed to have spent two days in an Indian shack at Fence Lake in the Lac Du Flambeau district. Last night he left the shack and stole the car of Adolph Getz, a Merrill rural letter carrier.

Picking up Catfish, the gangster, who the Indian said carried three pistols, forced the Indian to show him the way to Highway 70 which leads west to Pinefield.

There the Indian was forced from the car and walked back to the town where he described his tall and speaking in an unusually high voice. Nelson turned toward Pinefield on Highway 70, Catfish reported.

Farmers Receive Cash With Production Loans

Procedure in making crop and livestock loans by the Middletown Production Credit Association is not affected in any way by the recent change which requires Federal Land Bank loans to be disbursed in bonds.

"The proceeds of production loans are delivered in cash. No changes in the plan is involved by the Land Bank's shift to bonds, although both organizations are units of the Farm Credit Administration," says Mr. C. L. Boyd of Middletown, New York, secretary-treasurer of the unit which serves Orange, Ulster, Sullivan, and Rockland counties.

Farmers who made applications during the past two or three weeks for Production Credit loans are now receiving checks for the amounts they requested for spring operations. The loans are made so that the funds are made available as needed.

The Association urges farmers who plan to file applications to do so at once, as delay in filing means consequent delay in granting the loans. It usually takes two to three weeks from the time an application is filed until the funds are available to the borrowers. The heights of the season's demand for production credit loans is expected this month.

An important thing that has been overlooked by some applicants is that they do not list all of their debts on the application blank. It is with lukewarm water and give him stated. When unlisted obligations are revealed, it not only delays the Loan Committee's decision, but sometimes causes refusal of the loan. This might be unintentional on the part of the applicant, but, nevertheless, it is an important consideration in deciding whether the loan should be granted.

Chicago Cubs Meet Waterloo Against The Cincinnati Reds

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

With the first failure of a Cub starting pitcher to go the route Chicago's worst game since the season's opening the National League season is beginning to look like a long one. And only enough the only pitcher who has pitched consistently well for the Phillies would put that club's seven game string of defeats at the same time.

The Cubs met their Waterloo yesterday facing the Cincinnati Reds, a former "Yankee" which had been thoroughly dissipated by five beatings so far this season. Charles Root ran into a streak of wildness in the second and had to give way to Bud Tinning but even then it took a ninth inning homer by Sunny Jim Bottomley with one out to earn Cincinnati a 5-4 victory. Previously Chuck Klein had walked off his fourth homer to help Chicago take the lead.

Allen's Homer Wins
Pidgey Phil Collins, who had held the New York Giants to four hits in his first start, came right back at the Phils to their first triumph, 2-2. Erban Allen's homer in the sixth spelled the winning run.

Pitching also dominated the other two National League games as the Boston Braves turned back Brooklyn 2-0 in a duel between old Tom Zachary and young Emil Leonard in which each allowed six hits and Bill Hallahan's six hit flinging aided the St. Louis Cardinals in a 10-1 triumph over Pittsburgh. Spud Davis's homer in the seventh with two on ended a flinging argument between Hallahan and Ralph Birkhofer.

A big shakeup at Washington, which brought a 10-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox, furnished the high spot of the American League's three-game program. Manager Joe Cronin benched Ossie Blugge, Buddy Myer and Johnny Stone in favor of Cecil Travis, Bob Boken and Sheriff Dave Harris, and came up with a combination that scored eight runs in the first two innings and pounded four fingers for 15 hits.

Sorell Beats White Sox
Vic Sorell's expert five hit hurling and some timely hitting by Hank Greenberg gave Detroit's Tigers a 2-1 triumph over the White Sox and sent them back into first place. A pair of rookies, Joe Cascarella and Frank Hayes, led the Athletics to a 3-2 victory over the Yankees. Cascarella pitched three-hit ball after relieving Roy Mahaffey in the fifth while Hayes barked in the winning tally with a double in the ninth. The Cleveland-St. Louis encounter was rained out.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Part of the trouble in introducing American baseball to South Africa, says William Frederick Smythe, a pioneer from Brooklyn, has been the task of curing the players of old cricket habits.

"Our fielders at first scorned the use of gloves, from force of habit, but the force of base-hits and line-drives changed their ideas," says Smythe. In bringing tidings of another outpost for the game, appropriately enough, in the diamond country. "I recall a third baseman who appeared and held a hard smash with his bare hand. He did not play again for three weeks. Outfielders used to throw down their gloves and field the ball with bare hands, too, but they are now accustomed to their 'kit'."

"Another thing we had to remedy was the danger of foul balls breaking automobile wind-screens or lunging into the stands. We finally got enough cricket nets to form a backstop. I recall one accident that happened to a college waiter, bearing a tray-load of tea-cups through the stands during a game. A foul ball broke his nose and sent the tray flying from his hands. He was in the hospital for weeks."

"The game has spread amazingly since I first organized the Natal team in 1921. We have a dozen teams in our district. Inter-provincial matches are played and now attract much interest from sports followers who were skeptical at first. The calibre of play has improved rapidly, too. One of the big matches went into extra innings last season, with the final score 4 to 2, whereas it was not uncommon for 40 or 50 runs to be scored in earlier games. The development of proper playing fields and the high cost of equipment—a good ball costs over $1 and a fielder's glove around $15—are still big problems."

The Old "Bronx Barrack"

The equivalent of old-fashioned American "razzling" quickly found its way into the South African scheme of baseball affairs. Mr. Smythe disclosed. The only difference is that they call it "barracking" and that the fans manifested complete impartiality from the outset. They jeered both teams and the umpires, including Mr. Smythe. "The only reason the spectators did not resort to the old custom of hurling missiles at us," said Mr. Smythe, "was because I had the fore-thought to prevent the sale of anything that might be used from the stands—such as pop bottles. So far no one has thought of hurling teacups at the players or umpires but they may come to that. You see, I was born in Brooklyn and am familiar with some of the habits of the American baseball fan."

A South African Baseball

Some of South Africa's best cricket players, runners and football men have taken up baseball as a part-time sport activity. One of the star performers is Sid Atkinson, who won the Olympic high hurdles at Amsterdam in 1928.

They have heard a good deal about Babe Ruth on the Rand and one Bill Paine seems to be the near-

KINGSTON SENDS TO PLAY SCHWAB'S RELICS

The Kingston Senecas will hold their final practice Sunday at the Athletic Field, meeting Schwab's Relics at 10:30 a. m. The regular Senecas' lineup for 1934 will be picked after the game.

With The Walker Cuppers — Fischer

Cincinnati Youth Combines Stuzzing Power With Accuracy

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of a series of articles on the careers and personalities of the members of America's 1934 Walker Cup golf team, which meets the British at St. Andrews May 11-12.

By BOB CAVAGNARO

Associated Press Sports Writer

With all his power and remarkable distance the fair-haired, rangy youth possesses amazing accuracy, and the combination of these assets should prove profitable next month when he plays in Scotland with the American team against a golf contingent of Britons in the international Walker cup competition.

Like Gus Moreland and Johnny Goodman, the young and robust open champion, Johnny just learned his golf he wasn't taught. He learned about the game as a caddy and started to play from the experiences gained therefrom.

Plays For "All Or Nothing"

Confident of his distance and control, Johnny is a gambler of the fairways and yawning traps. His motto is "all or nothing." To play safe would take the thrill out of the sport for him. On Michigan, Fischer first commanded the spotlight in 1932 when he won recklessly firing with the wooded side of the fairways and yawning traps.

A senior at the University of Michigan, Fischer first commanded the spotlight in 1932 when he won the Big Ten championship and the national intercollegiate title. He went to the national amateur at Five Farms in Baltimore that year and stole the play in the qualifying round with a 69-73 to tie the qualifying record for the national tournament.

It took one of the nation's best and most admired golfers, Francis Ouimet, to check the rushing youth. Ouimet, captain of the 1924 Walker cup squad, had to use all of his tricks to beat Fischer, 1 up, in a 25-hole semi-final.

"Let The Wind Blow," He Says

Fischer came back last year in the national amateur and improved on his 1932 qualifying performance, negotiating the two 18-hole test rounds in 141 for a new record over his native Kenwood course in Cincinnati. His admiring townfolks barked heavily on Johnny to continue that form through the final, but Johnny was abruptly pushed to the sidelines in the second round by Sidney Noyes, one up in 18 holes.

Fischer is 22 years old, measures more than six feet and weighs about 150 pounds. He's one of those fearless individuals and least of his worries are the tales of the gales that blow over the royal and ancient links at St. Andrews.

"Let 'em blow, and blow hard," said Johnny. He's one of the longest drivers in the game and usually keeps the ball right down the middle of the fairway. Like the part in your hair.

Foxx Thinks He'll Make Record If He Has 18 Homers By June 1

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, April 26 (AP)—If you don't care to worry along through the closing days of September adding up Jimmie Foxx's home runs and wondering if he'll break Babe Ruth's record of 60 in one season, here's a short cut.

Put a ring around June 1 on your baseball calendar.

"If I have 18 by then," says the burly heler of the Athletics, "I'm on my way. I'll make it. If I'm under 18, well..."

Jimmie shrugs his wide shoulders and grins cheerfully. He's only 27 years old with years of slugging still ahead of him. He hit 58 in 1932, two shy of the Babe's great mark. It would seem as though adding two homers to that output shouldn't be too tough a task for a fellow who was that close once. But it's far from simple.

Has Suspicion About Hall

"You have to have every break in luck," Jimmie explains. "You've got to be in there swinging in every game. I always get away to a slow start and have to make up ground late in the season. One minor injury will ruin everything."

Jimmie has a suspicion too, that the American League ball this year isn't as fast as the National League whippet. It seems that they're still using balls in the American League that were manufactured last season and they don't seem to vanish with the celerity of the National League balls that were rushed into manufacture when uniformity was decided upon last winter.

American Race a Scramble

He has an idea too, that the 1934 pennant race in the American League will wind up in a mad scramble. "The Yanks look good, sure, but I don't think they're as strong as last year with those kids, Rolfe and Heffner, in the infield. And the Senators, why they might not even finish in the first division. They look like they're still suffering a hangover from the kicking the Giants gave them."

Their fire and pep are gone. "Their fire and pep are gone."

Billiards

Gentle Trims Tellier

In the round robin match at Nick's Thursday night, Tony Gentile outpointed Julius Tellier, 125-80, thus defeating him in the race by the total of 250-158. High runs were Tellier 18, Gentile 16.

Match Tonight

There will be a junior tournament match tonight bringing together Larry Hyatt and Frank Schilling.

Michael Augustine of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus, defeated Lou Maxin of the Elks at the latter club Thursday in the pool tournament for the championship of the clubs. Augustine's total for the three blocks was 300 and Maxon's 267.

Augustine will be matched with the Poughkeepsie Elks' champ for May 10 at the Kingston Elks' Club.

Schryvers Get Suits for Sunday, Captain Tiano Names Batting Order

Final arrangements for their opening game of the season Sunday at the Fair Grounds were completed by the Schryvers All Stars last night when new uniforms were given to the players to represent Kingston in the semi-pro field this year.

Players who received uniforms with numbers designating their positions on the team as follows: Davitt, 4, second base; Knight, 5, center field; Finger, 6, shortstop; Lay, 9, right field; Tiano, 7, left field; Carpenter, 3, first base; L. Bruhs, 5, third base; Hoffman, 2, catcher; Thomas, 1, pitcher; Ted Fraleigh, 10, and Wab Black, 11, are the reserve lineup.

Batting order Sunday will be arranged by Captain Charles Tiano. Bill Schwab and Dick Duhon have been designated as the official piers for the season. Schwab will pitch behind the plate and Duhon will be the catcher.

Opponents of the Schryvers Sunday, as has been announced, will be the Hamilton A. C. of New York. A team of former collegians who defeated the ace pitcher. He is scheduled to meet them up against the Schryvers. The local club will have Bill Thomas on the mound and Joe Hoffman behind the bat.

As a feature of the inaugural Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman will throw the first ball. The East Kingston band will furnish music.

Kingston High Will Play Middletown Here Saturday

Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds the Kingston High School baseball team will stack up against a strong Middletown High nine in a game that will undoubtedly be a close, spirited contest. The game is called at 2:30.

The Hughesmen are rated high in DUSO circles and a win for Kingston over them would greatly strengthen her bid for the DUSO crown. A year ago Middletown trimmed Kingston for one of her two DUSO defeats.

The locals will probably start with Captain Martin, ace southpaw, in the box, and George Zadany behind the plate. Jack Linden at first, Johnny Murphy at second, Don Moore at short and Ralph DiCicco at third is the likely Maroon infield, while the outfield will probably consist of Mac Tiano, Elmer Hopper and either Harder or Ortale.

The schedule of games for the DUSO baseball circuit has been received and lists the following contests:

Liberty at Ellenville.
Port Jervis at Monticello.
Middletown at Kingston.

PRACTICE FOR RIENZO A. C.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, 1:30

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the Rienzo A. C. baseball team will practice at Hasbrouck Park. All members of the team are requested to be present. Teams wishing games with the Rienzos should phone 2912-J.

NORTH RONDOUT A. C. WILL

PRACTICE SATURDAY AT 1:30

The North Rondout A. C. will practice Saturday afternoon at 1:30 on the diamond at Terry's brickyard. Sunday afternoon, the club will play the Modica Dairy nine at Terry's, starting at 2 o'clock.

On Lacrosse Team

Schenectady, April 27—In playing Tufts College here tomorrow afternoon for the first time between these two institutions, the Union College lacrosse team will attempt to improve its defense which crumbled last Saturday before Hobart in an overtime period game, 6 to 7. In the Union lineup will be Hugh R. Elwyn, Kingston High School graduate, of Woodstock, who will play second at tack.

Kaslich A. C. Will Meet This Evening

All members of the Kaslich A. C. baseball team are requested to make a special effort to attend the meeting of the club tonight to hear plans for the game with Stone Ridge Sunday. The team: Minasian, 3b; Garrity, 1b; Flanagan, cf; Chambers, 1b; Steigerwald, rf; Gadd, ss; Collins, 2b; Messing, c; Fleming, p; Van Buren, p; Craig, cf, and Smith, rf.

Tennis Instruction.

All girls interested in tennis instruction are asked to meet at the Y. W. C. A. on Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock with Miss Lillian Herdman. The plans and schedule of instruction will be planned at that time.

SIDE-SLIPPING

"Cheer up! There's a silver lining in every cloud, you know."

"Yes, but I'm no aviator."

All Alive

"The Browns," said Mrs. Jones, "are decidedly highbrow in their pursuits. Although, I may add, not entirely successful. The daughter writes poetry that no one will print; the son writes plays that no one will produce; and Mrs. Brown herself writes books that no one will read."

"And what does father do?" asked her neighbor.

"He writes checks that no one will cash," came the reply.—Sunny Stories Magazine.

Making Sure

"Let me see," said Lane pensively. "do I owe you any money, old man?" Long raised inquiring eyebrows. "Not a penny, old chap," he replied. "Why, are you going round paying off your little debts?"

"Oh, no," replied Lane quickly. "I was just going round to see if I've overlooked anybody. Lend me the bob till Saturday, will you?"—Answers Magazine.

Vegetarian

Robinson was well known in the club as a vegetarian. The members were hardly surprised, therefore, when his friend Jones burst into the billiard room one evening and announced: "Robinson has been true to his vegetarian principle."

"What's he done now?" they asked. "Haven't you heard? He's run away with a grass widow."

Loughran on Stand All Day Thursday

Examined by County Attorney
Ewig—Tells About Roads and Expenditures

An adjournment was taken Thursday afternoon in the proceedings before the board of supervisors to examine the Democratic side of the case to remove Mr. Loughran from office. The adjournment was taken at 4:30 o'clock when Mr. Ewig on re-cross examination asked Mr. Loughran as to certain facts regarding why there was an unexpended balance on a highway one year when the following spring another small appropriation was asked to complete the road. That question was asked after Mr. Loughran said that he presumed work had been completed on the roads where a balance was shown to certain projects. He explained how it was that the balance was not used. Another question was asked for the same road if it had been completed the previous year. Mr. Loughran said that he was extremely tired and if he would have to ask counsel to permit him to answer it later after he had been had because he was very tired and it was impossible to deal with figures in his present exhausted condition.

A recess was taken until Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Loughran had been on the stand under cross examination of Mr. Ewig practically all day, this was followed by re-direct examination by Mr. Flemming and then Mr. Ewig again took the witness.

In regard to the work done on Stone Cabin Creek Mr. Loughran said he had not known of that work until recently. He said the work done at the mouth of the Stone Cabin Creek in the Rondout was not in the nature of a revetment, it was an attempt to re-establish the creek. The work done in 1933 on Stone Cabin Creek in Denning he said had not been directed by him. That particular work would not be a direct projection to the Van Etten bridge, he did not know just how it came to be done. The work did act as a protection to the so-called revetment in the Rondout which did protect the Van Etten bridge.

$220.88. Mr. Loughran said he knew why that had been done. The money had been a contribution toward the cost of the work done there under Mr. Van Etten's appreciation and considered an aid of protection to the property. He said to Mr. Loughran about making some contribution for the work. That was either in 1932 or 1934 before the present proceeding was started. The check was sent to Mr. Loughran who forwarded it to the town of Wawarsing as best payment for the road which did the work on the stream. The witness said he did not know whether the town of Wawarsing billed Mr. Van Etten for the amount sent or not. The work the witness said had been done by the Van Etten place and Mr. Van Etten realized it. He told Mr. Loughran he had been benefited and wanted to pay for it. This talk about paying was at the time of the doing of the work. When they entered on the Van Etten property Mr. Loughran said he asked permission of Mr. Van Etten to dump the material. At that time he said he wanted to make a contribution and Mr. Loughran said he gave him the cost figure but he did not know what basis Mr. Van Etten used in paying the $220.88.

On receipt of the check it was forwarded to the town of Wawarsing. The witness said he knew of ponds on the Van Etten place which were fed by streams flowing from Stone Cabin Creek. These ponds would be affected by water flowing over the Van Etten lands.

Asked as to whether his payrolls were not greater in September and October than in other months of the year Mr. Loughran said they were and the reason was that local farmers had their work done and were seeking outside work after harvest. Prior to that in many localities it was not possible to get local labor as the men had work at home. Later in the season the character of the work also might make additional men necessary.

The matter of getting labor for jobs was left to the foremen and they used their discretion as to the number of men who might be used to the best interest of the county. The jobs were overseen by Mr. Loughran. In 1931 he told Mr. Ewig that he did have a form in use which required the signature of the applicant for a job and also an endorsement of another person but at no time had he ever instructed the foremen to demand the signature of any town committee. The purpose was to have the signature of the employee on file for the protection of the county treasurer. These cards did have an endorsement space on them. Since the abandonment of the card system no new system had been put in to get the signatures of employees.

Cards signed were forwarded to his office.

"Are they there now?" asked Ewig.

"They are not," replied Mr. Loughran.

He said that when subpoenaed to produce one he had found one in some old papers but the rest had been destroyed after the close of the working season of 1931 "after they served their purpose." These cards he said had never been turned over to the county treasurer although they were available and had been secured as a protection to the county treasurer in regard to endorsements on warrants and payrolls. They had been accessible to the treasurer had he wanted to see them. He said however that he did not know whether the treasurer knew of their existence or not.

"Is it a practice to destroy papers in your office each year?" asked Mr. Ewig. "No," replied the witness. He said that the cards having completed their purpose they were destroyed the subsequent year. Mr. Loughran then said that there was criticism in 1931 as to the card system as they were being used for a purpose which they had not been intended for. Several people told him so the witness said.

Asked as to who told him and what was said and whether he made any investigation to determine the truth of these statements, Mr. Loughran said that he had been told that the cards were being used to get supervisors or town committee to recommend men for jobs but that such acts had never been at his instruction and when he learned that such a thing was being done he ordered the cards discontinued and they never were used again. "They were being used for a purpose other than I had intended them for," said Loughran. He said his information as to their misuse came from a source which he considered reliable and he made no further investigation to determine the facts, he was satisfied as to the truth of the statement that they were being misused.

He investigated. As to complaints about discrimination among laborers he said there was always such talk going on. When a complaint of discrimination was made to him he investigated it by seeing the man who made the complaint and seeing the foreman who had been complained of. Some complaints naturally may have been justified and he said he thought he had enough intelligence to know when they were. He said to his knowledge no foreman had been discharged because of political affiliation.

John Hamm, a foreman, he said lived at Stone Ridge and had been engaged by the witness as foreman. At present Mr. Hamm was not in the employ of the highway department. He had gone with the CWA on December 10, 1933, prior to that he had worked for about three years with the highway department here. He had been working for the town superintendent of Marlborough prior to coming with Mr. Loughran. Prior to that he had been a foreman on the Ashokan construction job.

Asked about Ben Baldwin the witness said he lived in Kingston and was still in the employ of the department. He had been employed by the county three or four years. "What did he do before that?" asked Ewig. "I am not sure just what he did," replied Mr. Loughran. He said he had an investigation made of Baldwin before he hired him. "Well, did you ever hear he had been with the Prudential Insurance Company prior to his employ by the county?" asked Mr. Ewig. "I have heard him talking about insurance and I assume he may have been with the Prudential Insurance Company. He makes a most excellent foreman," replied the witness. Asked as to his source of information when Baldwin was being investigated the witness said it had been the late John W. Ebert and on his recommendation he hired Baldwin.

In 1932 Road 89 was built. He said that he could recall no conversation with Mr. Coughlin about the stone as he had knowledge of the stone from the Sullivan county quarry.

The witness was then asked about not using stone from the Sullivan county quarry and he replied that he had no apology to make for the acts or statements that his sole object was to do what he could for the interests of Ulster county. He said he not only considered labor from Ulster county but also taxable property being in Ulster county.

At the request of Mr. Coughlin he had on March 13, 1934, submitted to Albany rock to be tested for Mr. Coughlin.

"Was it acceptable to the state department?" asked Mr. Ewig. "I do not know for what purpose it was to be used," replied the witness.

Wanted Approved Stone. He said that in refusing to get the Coughlin stone he had in mind that it was to come from the Sullivan county quarry and he did not believe that the stone would be acceptable to the highway department. His interest was to have the stone used in construction acceptable to the state department.

The employment of Prof. William W. Michael, son of the late Prof. Myron J. Michael, former superintendent of schools of this city, came up for criticism by the prosecution. Mr. Loughran said Mr. Michael had been employed temporarily by the county. He was assistant professor of civil engineering at the California Institute of Technology and had resided in California for a time. Mr. Loughran said that Mr. Michael was a taxpayer in Ulster county. The policy of the county department was to employ Ulster county men so far as possible. Mr. Michael worked for the county in 1933 for a total of 45 1/2 days at $8 a day on consulting work. Mr. Loughran said he had been in consultation with the county superintendent and secured data on road and bridge work and had been engaged in the computation of stresses and design of bridges and as to proper alignment. Michael the witness said was not the only man in the county competent to do that work and other men had been availed of.

Mr. Loughran said he had learned that the men employed in the Sullivan county quarry were Ulster county residents when a supervisor from Wawarsing who showed interest in Mr. Coughlin called and told him that that was a fact.

The witness said he did not recall seeing Mr. Coughlin on the Greenfield road recently and he had no feelings toward Mr. Coughlin. He did recall seeing trucks of gravel bearing Mr. Coughlin's name operate over the Greenfield road recently and he said the trucks were damaging the road. He was present when one of the trucks had stopped due to the condition of the highway and measurements were taken to ascertain the load on the truck.

"And following that did you recommend to this board that the road be closed to trucks and vehicles of more than four gross tons weight?" asked Mr. Ewig.

The witness started to say about damage to the road but did not finish the answer.

Bills Paid Loughran

The bills paid by the county to Mr. Loughran for work on the TB hospital and for blue prints and for work done for the district attorney were taken up. Mr. Loughran said the county owned no blue-print machine. He had one and he did the work with his plant and charged the county for the time of the man who operated the plant and the material used less 15 per cent which was an estimated commercial profit.

"In some cases you are allowed mileage for a car," asked counsel. "Yes, my car, a Buick station wagon," replied the witness. He said the car was his and he paid the insurance on it and only recently when he was ill in January did he have a county man act as chauffeur. At other times he did take a man along when he needed assistance in taping or when he was compelled to leave his car and walk over a project and have the car pick him up at a distant point.

The witness said he did not know whether Mr. Coughlin was a taxpayer in Ulster county or not. As to temporary work by two young women in his office he said they had been doing clerical work and had been classified as laborers and paid for from a special fund of $3,000 appropriated by the board of supervisors by resolution for use in hiring "additional laborers in the office of the county superintendent." That classification as laborers he said he had not made.

After a short recess the session was resumed. The witness said that town superintendent of highways did report to him the town road mileage. In 1933 Denning had reported a total of 103.1 miles. A report signed by Town Superintendent Coddington was produced and read. It was the form used by the state and provided a space for the mileage and also a place to insert how the measurements were taken. This space was not filled in. It was sworn to by Mr. Coddington. Mr. Ewig called attention to the fact that the total mileage on the blank was 103.1 but that this appeared in red ink and there were the figures of 100.1 in black ink but this had been crossed out and the 193.1 inserted. Mr. Loughran said he did not recall when or why this had been done but he presumed it had been done after correspondence with the State Highway Department and his office. On the paper was a notation "revised November 1, 1933." He said he thought that notation had something to do with the correspondence with the State Department. He did not know whether it had anything to do with the Addison Wright road or not.

So far as he could recall, he did not get had a conversation with Mr. Coddington about the Wright road. Asked if he knew district Van Wageningen he said he could not point him out, he did not know him. Someone had pointed out a man since the proceedings had started and said it was Mr. Van Wageningen. Loughran said he did not speak to the man.

He told Mr. Ewig that he had said Mr. Coddington on the stand said he had omitted the Wright road but he could not say positively that Mr. Coddington had told him that the Wright road had been left off. He said Coddington had told him something about the road one time on the street he thought.

Tells of Michael. Then Mr. Flemming took the witness and asked a few questions as to the employment of Mr. Michael and as to the length of the service. He also asked whether Mr. Loughran had been responsible for classifying the extra girls as laborers and the witness said he had not. He denied he had selected foremen for political reasons or that the foremen had been told to select laborers for political reasons.

Mr. Loughran named several Democratic foremen in the employ of the county recently. He said he thought John Hamm was a Republican. He had employed Dave Stewart in Shawangunk, a Democrat. Donovan in Lloyd, also a man named Myers in Lloyd who was a Democrat and a son of the superintendent of streets in Saugerties, whom he understood was a Democrat. He did not know definitely the politics of his men. At all times in 1930, 1931, and 1932 his foremen were authorized to hire and fire.

The only project which was carried forward without specific authority of the board of supervisors was Road 89 and that had been authorized later by a resolution of the board of the board. At no time Mr. Loughran said was he informed of the receipts or income to the county for highway work. His was not an accounting office.

Asked as to what roads showed a credit balance on the sheet which had been offered in evidence he said that roads on the sheet which showed a credit balance had not been spent at the close of the season were:

No. 37, $12,000; No. 34, $19,000; No. 35, $5,200; No. 36, $22,700; No. 37, $2,400; No. 40, $4,500; No. 14, $537.

There was a total expenditure on certain projects over the allocation that year of $47,854.25. However, with the unexpended balances on other roads amounting to $52,565.00 there was in reality a balance to the credit of the county highway fund of about $1,500 at the time the sheet in evidence was made.

Mr. Loughran said the statements on the sheet in evidence indicated that would be required to complete the projects and was set down for the information of the clerk of the board.

His office force in 1930, 1931 and 1932 consisted of himself and about four stenographer-clerks.

By 1932 the projects originally planned were about completed. Would lose Pension. Asked by Mr. Flemming what would be the effect of his dismissal under charges by the board of supervisors at this time the witness said:

"Under the pension system, in which I have been as a county official since it was started, according to the compensation I will lose my pension for the rest of my life. Mr. Flemming then read the resolution passed by a 4-1 vote on April 12, 1932, offered by Supervisor Ebert of Denning authorizing the construction of the Van Etten bridge and making an appropriation of $1,400.

Mr. Ewig then asked the witness to tell what it was that a balance on road 34 was shown in 1931 and in March of 1932 $2,400 was requested to complete the road. He asked why this was when it was supposed that the road had been completed and a balance existed.

Mr. Loughran replied that figures are very vague and that he would wait for another session if he was figures I am very tired.

The chairman suggested that an adjournment be taken and Supervisor Finch moved to recess until 10 o'clock today.

Consecration of Bishop Donahue

Arrangements for the consecration of the Most Rev. Stephen J. Donahue as auxiliary bishop of New York at St. Patrick's Cathedral on Tuesday night have been practically completed. The consecration will include three days of ceremony to begin the beginning of the new auxiliary bishop's official duties. The ceremonies at the consecration and at the testimonial banquet which is to follow at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Wednesday evening will be a most impressive event.

Assisting Cardinal Hayes at the consecration ceremony will be 52 archbishops and bishops from all parts of the United States, several from the 371 parishes in the archdiocese. Two archbishops, the Most Rev. John J. Mitty, D.D., of San Francisco, and the Most Rev. Edward A. Mooney, D.D., of Rochester, will assist Cardinal Hayes as co-consecrators of the new bishop. His Eminence will have as chaplains the Rev. Joseph P. Donohue, and the Rev. Gaetano Arcese, chaplains to Archbishop Mooney will be the Rev. Andrew A. Daljacky and the Rev. Charles E. Fitzgerald, Ph.D., chaplains to Archbishop Mitty will be the Rev. William B. Dugan and the Rev. Casimir McNulty.

Chaplains to Bishop-elect Donahue will be the Revs. Samuel F. Lucey, Ph.D., Cornelius J. Drew, Special Chaplains to the Bishop-elect; The Rev. T. Henry Dean (Holy Water), James H. Brady, (Ring), William E. Kelly (Crozier), James J. Daly (Charm).

There will also be in attendance at the ceremony in the cathedral and at the testimonial banquet members of papal orders including Knights of St. Gregory, Knights of Malta, and Knights of the Holy Sepulchre. All of the members of the hierarchy and of the papal orders will wear the distinctive robes and uniforms of their offices.

The services of consecration will begin at the cathedral at 10 a. m., and the testimonial dinner at 7 p. m. Between the two ceremonies, Bishop Donahue will be host to the church societies at a private luncheon. The testimonial dinner to the new auxiliary bishop on Wednesday evening will be an unusually colorful gathering. Cardinal Hayes and members of the hierarchy will be seated on a triple date built to accommodate the 52 archbishops and bishops gathered for the consecration ceremony. Following the dinner, which will be attended by approximately 1,500 representatives of all creeds, members of the Catholic faith who have arranged the testimonial, Bishop Donahue will hold a reception in the Basilica Room adjoining the dining hall. He will be attended by the uniformed Knights of the Catholic orders.

FASHIONS by ELEANOR GUNN

Dress-Like Gowns and Slips

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild.

The first gown, at the extreme left, is done in a pink and yellow pure dye border print, with the border worked into the ruffles at the shoulder and outlining the little diamond shape cut-outs on the front of the bodice. The gown at the right of the sketch is in ice blue satin with creamy Alençon trimming, with an unusual working of the waistline band which carries up over the V of the décolletage.

The slip shown on the seated figure, and just behind it, is in peach pink crepe, with a lace gilet front and collar which is intended to substitute for the suit blouse with tailored jackets. The back view reveals its definite slip identity.

The Bell Silhouette Remains

New York—Still definitely pre-war, spring fashions manage somehow to accommodate themselves to this scramble we call life.

Dresses that were never intended to sit at bars are doing just that. At the fashionable and much publicized cocktail hour one sees many dresses of the sheltered life variety. And one is amused to find that the prime sort of thing can really look rakish when worn by the gay young things that are still living on the memories of Easter holidays.

Clothes just now are gay and inclined to be tricky, at least many of them are tricky, especially the sort that have all sorts of detachable cuffs and collars.

All these white starched or soft fluttering things that are being worn just now, clamor for white hats to complete that jaunty flippy look. And there are many young-looking clothes just now. It's all highly amusing when one remembers how short a time ago it was when "girlie" clothes were scorned and every girl was doing her best to look and dress as much like a boy as she could.

Just how the bell silhouette recalls to older women the days when to be a belle was the ambition of every girl. There is nothing more girlishy-girlie than these summery, frilly clothes that bell out at the knees after which they are just as frothy as were the pre-war dresses. Fashed too, some of them. The wide shoulder treatment accents the waistline as of yore.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Very large, little-boy collars, no doubt inspired by the Queen Christina models, but more conventional, are being seen now in the shirtwaist dress, shirts with shorts and jackets or three-quarter coats of linen suits.

Two-faced satin ribbon is also important in millinery, as is black, navy or brown eared satin ribbon in monotonous. The black is especially good just now as the laquered accent which is so much liked.

Kingston Girl Has Part in Horse Show

The fourth annual Hollins College Horse Show will begin at 10 a. m., April 28 and will be held at the riding ring in its beautiful setting at the very edge of the Forest of Arden. The student officers of the Riding Club are: President, Miss Sude Cooke, Hollins, Va.; vice president, Miss Mary Staples, Kingston; secretary, Miss Mary Staples, Kingston; and treasurer, Miss Patricia Garsenwhite, Smith, South Orange, N. J.

Miss Staples, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Staples, 22 Highland avenue, will participate in the horse show.

Among the entries are a number from V. P. I., one from Rotolow county, several from Roanoke, and seven from the "Our Hobby Farm" of J. J. McIntyre, whose home and stables are near the college. During the year Mr. McIntyre has acquired for his stables "No Limit," an iron grey, five-year-old horse, "Dorothy," a three-year-old chestnut, and "Dark Secret," a five-year-old black. "Dark Secret," a four-year-old, is to be shown for the first time. Mr. McIntyre will also show two colts of his own breeding.

Forest Ward, of Charlottesville, will judge the show. Mr. Ward has judged at Ohio State, Harrodsburg, Ky., Huntington, Charleston, Hot Springs and several eastern shows, and this year will judge the Newark, N. J., show, which takes place shortly after the Hollins show. Mr. Ward

Find Crucifix Believed More Than 300 Years Old

Bedford, Wis.—John Martin, a farmer near here, found a small copper crucifix on his farm where he has lived for 30 years.

Because the figure of Christ was not like the head adorned with a crown of thorns and because the feet are not crossed, it is believed that the crucifix was made before 1600.

It is supposed for his presence on a farm Martin surmises that it was brought with a converted Indian by some priests who frequented this part of the country in the early Seventeenth century.

"It Helps Me!"

That's what 98 out of 100 women say after taking this medicine. It cures quivering nerves, gives them more strength before and after childbirth, rides them over Change of Life... makes life seem worth living again.

Talks to Parents

The Romantic Age

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

At 14 Amy was in the sentimental stage of development. She wanted romance, and all her spare time and money were spent on trashy, sex-mongering literature and shows. She lived in a secret world of her own, and what her reactions and emotions were, neither her father nor her mother could guess. Some of the books she found in the girl's room were far from suitable reading for her age and experience, and sure to give false impressions of life.

Mrs. Jones could recall her own feelings at this period of development, and bought several of the old novels which had appealed to her. They were sentimental books, but wholesome, and with a sane outlook on life.

She was very doubtful about the outcome of her experiment when she placed the first of these books on Amy's bedside table, but to her delight the novel appealed to the child at once. She read it through at a sitting, and then, finding that her mother had also read and loved it, began to discuss it with her.

Some days later another book of the same kind was quietly introduced, and gradually the trashy literature decreased, since Amy's taste for romance was being fed at home. Best of all, a contact was established between mother and daughter which, once begun on their similar taste in sentiment, grew as the years went on.

The desire for "slush" is common during the early and middle teens. No amount of discussion and disapproval will affect it.

The best plan is to satisfy it with the best literature of the kind until the youngster has had enough. The old stories of Ouida and Marjitt have not lost their charm even for this would-be hard-boiled generation.

ARDONIA.

Ardonia, April 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Eber Palmer accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge Ward and daughter, Beatrice, to High Woods, last Sunday where they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hyatt and family entertained relatives at their home on Sunday.

The Misses Helen and Marion Palmer, Norma Conklin and William and Eber Palmer attended the play, "Where's Grandma?" at the Plattekill Grange hall, Friday evening.

Miss Emma Palmer entertained a number of ladies of the Ladies' Aid last week at a committee meeting. Members of the Dramatic Club will be entertained at the home of Miss Kathryn Ross, in Modena, Tuesday evening, May 1.

The Girl Scouts held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eber Palmer and family entertained relatives from Modena Wednesday evening.

Miss Reulah Kelder spent Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Doolittle in Modena. Mr. and Mrs. James Haight and daughter, Helen of Newburgh, were recent callers in town.

served on Wednesday evening, May 2, in the basement of the church. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. Harry DeWitt of Woodbridge visited friends in this place last week.

Mrs. Ella Devo was the guest of Mrs. Kathryn Sutton on Tuesday. The annual school meeting of School District No. 5, St. Remy, will be held in the schoolhouse Tuesday, May 1, at 5 p. m.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Serious Business
Racine, Wis.—When police found Paul Roszek, 48, badly beaten and unconscious they asked Edwin Collins, 51, how it happened.

"We were fighting a nice friendly fight until Roszek started to use a sledge hammer," he said. "Then it got serious."

Collins went to jail and Roszek to a hospital.

Paid In Full

Chicago—Last December, Leonard Danielson, 28, electrical engineer was trapped in a $125,000 mill fire. Charles Schrank, 46, a miller, entered the blazing building and rescued him.

Danielson repaid the debt. Schrank was trapped on the 12th story of the mill which was again in flames. Climbing the blazing stairway, Danielson rescued him.

Bullet? Pooh Pooh

Memphis, Tenn.—John Sayers, 28, veteran of the Union Army, found that being struck by an automobile was worse than being shot in the leg at the battle of Shiloh. "It hurt worse than the bullet, to get run over last night," Sayers said on his hospital bed. "I always was afraid of them autos."

Quick Turn-over

Grimsby, Ont.—J. Herbert Beamer has back the possessions he lost in a bailiff's sale for tax arrears.

His neighbors bought them for nominal sums in the auction and returned them to Beamer "on loan."

An automobile—with spare tire and two gallons of gas—went for 75 cents. The sale netted $30.05.

Is There No Justice?

Erie, Pa.—Warden Matt Hess told Slim Young, the best window washer ever locked in the county jail, that if he would wash all the prison windows a parole would be granted.

He worked feverishly, washing for freedom. But he was saying things to himself as he walked out of jail. The parole had been granted before he accepted the warden's bargain.

Candidates Carry Voter

Benwood, W. Va.—The day of the town election dawned bright and warm but Louis Kepple, ardent Democrat, was dismayed—his wooden leg was gone.

What was more, his friend, Police Chief Pat Scully was up for re-election and needed votes. Kepple called Pat and the latter called the Democrats. They carried Kepple to the polls.

The Democrats won and Chief Scully located the missing limb.

A Democratic Republican

Brewster, Mass.—Though Louis Crocker insists he is a Republican, he is officially a member of the Democratic town committee. "Some wag wrote Crocker's name on the ballot in the pre-primary election, and that vote elected him."
